Don't Forget Munich, 1972

The hope of the Palestine Liberation Organization that some people would learn to forgive and forget apparently does not apply to the International Olympic Committee. The PLO was rumored to be seeking to participate in the 1984 summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. But before the rumor was able to spread, the president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, Peter Ueberoth, said without any hesitation, that there would be no PLO team at the summer games.

But the mere thought of it shocked Rep. Mel Levine, the Democrat from California. He quickly gathered 53 of his colleagues to sign a letter to the International Olympic Committee saying that IOC recognition of the PLO would be "morally repugnant and inconsistent with the International Olympic Committee's charter."

"We think," the letter continued, "that recognition of the PLO by the International Olympic Committee would be unthinkable in light of the massacre of Israeli athletes in the 1972 Munich games by an affiliate of the PLO."

Indeed the prospect of such international recognition being bestowed upon the PLO is revolting. The immediate response from Ueberoth and the letter from the Congressmen are thus both welcomed. It demonstrates that many have not forgotten the terrorist actions of the PLO or that of the Munich massacre in 1972.

Damascus radio claimed that the Israelis were on a sabotage mission and confirmed their capture. Israeli sources said the Syrians still be held responsible for their safety. The three were described as administrative staff members of the Israeli Liaison office to the Lebanese government. Their status as diplomats is uncertain inasmuch as Israel and Lebanon have never had a formal exchange of diplomats.

Egypt Seeking Weapons From West Germany

BONN (WNS) — The Egyptian government has submitted a weapons shopping list to West Germany and would also like to manufacture German tanks in Egypt under a licensing agreement.

The official request was made by the Egyptian Defense Minister, Abu Ghazala at a meeting in Cairo with Bonn's Deputy Foreign Minister, Juergen Moellemann. Moellemann told reporters on his return that the government has not yet decided to approve the arms sales to Egypt. It is understood, however, that it is giving favorable consideration to the Egyptian requests.

Cairo would like to purchase Gepart anti-aircraft armored vehicles, Roland anti-aircraft systems, Marder armored troop-carriers and scores of electronic systems for military use.

They are also seeking license to assemble a new West German light tank, which they would call "fahd" (Leopard) at a plant near Cairo. The tank is not identical to

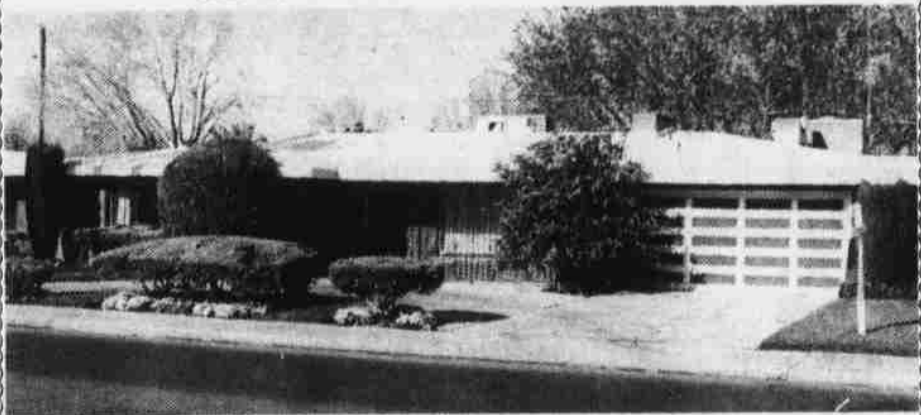

West Germany's Leopard I or Leopard II — the latter regarded by military experts as the best tank extant — but would be built in cooperation with the Krauss Maffei Co. which builds the two Leopards at its Munich plant.

NEW YORK (WNS) — For the first time in nearly a decade, the rabbi of Moscow's main synagogue is in the United States. Rabbi Adolp Shayeivich of the Charale Synagogue in Moscow will spend two weeks in the U.S. as part of an ecumenical delegation of religious dignitaries from the Soviet Union.
