

Kitchen Classroom

Gourmet chef Warren Seta shows Kathrina Cava the proper techniques used to slice vegetables for cooking. Home Tutoring Unlimited provides at-home instruction by professionals in all subjects, including academics, foreign languages, music, voice and hobbies.

Boulevard Mall Ribbon Cutting Ceremony

(L-R) Arlene Eisenstadt, Marketing Director, The Boulevard Mall; Joel Blaisdell, General Manager, The Boulevard Mall; Dorothy Huff, representing Governor Richard Bryan; Dan Smalley, Vice President, Schroeder Real Estate; Donna Lee McNeil, Miss Nevada-USA; (Cutting the ribbon standing) Michael Nader, guest celebrity who portrays "Dex Dexter" on Dynasty; (Cutting the ribbon kneeling) Maxwell Creasey, Deputy Managing Director, MEPC plc (London); James Tuckey, Estates and Investment Director, MEPC plc (London); Charles Grossman, President, Schroeder Real Estate; David Gruber, President, MEPC American Properties and Reverend Tom Groome. Not pictured are: Dan Parker, Director of Retail Investments, MEPC, American Properties; Dennis Sousa, Vice President, The Boulevard Mall Merchants Association and Mayor Bill Briare.

The Boulevard Mall had their grand re-opening, recently. They have many new stores, improved lighting, a new combination of carpeting and tile flooring, beautiful palm trees in their totally remodeled front entrance and mainly a more relaxed atmosphere for your shopping pleasure. Truly better than ever!

Stowaway Back In Israel

TEL AVIV (WNS) — A 15-year-old boy stowed himself away aboard a Rumanian Airline plane to Bucharest recently and spent a month there with his grandmother before being reported to the authorities and sent back to Israel.

The incident has been kept quiet till now, with many red faces at both Ben Gurion Airport in Israel and the Rumanian capital's airport and investigations about security procedures at both places have been started.

The youth arrived at Ben Gurion Airport from his home in northern Israel one day at the end of May without a ticket, passport or boarding pass. He walked past passport control and security guards, boarded the plane and took a vacant seat.

The air crew, who are supposed to count passengers, apparently failed to do so. When a security guard boarded the plane asked for his boarding card the youth pointed to a group of elderly tourists behind him and said: "My grandmother has it."

During the flight, the stowaway ate and drank with the other passengers and is now reported to have enjoyed the flight thoroughly. In Bucharest, the youngster mingled with the tourist groups. Passports were not checked individually as the tour agent presented them all to the authorities as the batch.

The boy stayed a month with his grandmother in Bucharest and, according to the story he told Israeli police later, "nagged her to death and caused a lot of trouble." The grandmother could finally not take it any more and reported her grandson to the police, who sent the boy back to Israel on the next flight.

The boy can be charged by Israeli law with illegal exit from the country. It is not known what steps the boy's parents took to find him when he failed to return home last May.

Please support the
AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

REELECT

Marvin Sedway

Assembly District 15 Democrat

Pd Pol Adv Pd by Committee to Elect Marvin Sedway

ELECT

Hank
Thornley

ASSEMBLY 3 • DEMOCRAT