

Trifa Leaves U.S. On Deportation Order

WASHINGTON (WNS) — Archbishop Valerian Trifa, who was ordered deported from the United States in October, 1982, for his activities in leading the Rumanian Iron Guard in a pogrom against Jews in 1941, left the U.S. for Portugal, the Justice Department announced.

"Mr. Trifa's departure is permanent," Stephen Trott, Assistant Attorney General, criminal division, said at a press conference August 14 at the Justice Department. "We have taken steps to ensure that he will never ever come back into the United States of America."

Trott noted that Trifa's departure ends nine years of legal efforts by the Justice Department's Office of Special Investigations (OSI) to first strip Trifa of his citizenship because he entered the U.S. in 1950 after lying about his Nazi past and then to deport him.

Neal Sher, director of the OSI, noted that before the legal activities began, several persons had sought to bring Trifa to public attention, particularly Dr. Charles Kramer of Rumania, now a New York dentist.

Trott said that U.S. officials were present when Trifa, 70, of Grass Lake, Mich., left from Kennedy International Airport in New York and when he arrived in Portugal. "This represents a highly significant victory of the Office of Special Investigations, because Trifa, who has been highly visible, as the Bishop of the Rumanian Orthodox Church of America, was a symbol of this country's recent concerted efforts to move against Nazi war criminals," Trott declared. "His departure proves that denaturalization and removal from the United States of individuals engaged in persecution under the Nazi regime are not idle threats," he said.

Trott noted that Trifa is the third Nazi war criminal under prosecution by the OSI to have left the U.S. in recent months. In April, 1983, Hans Lipschis, of Chicago, a Lithuanian-born SS Deaths Head guard at the Auschwitz death camp, was deported to West Germany. In July, Anatoly Hrusitzky fled the United States for Venezuela and renounced his U.S. citizenship. Sher said the OSI presently has 35 cases in litigation and is investigating some 300 others.

Boys Town Jerusalem

Israel Defense Minister Moshe Arens (center), on a recent visit to Boys Town Jerusalem, observed teenage students in Boys Town's High School of Precision Mechanics drafting plans of airplane parts to specifications demanding accuracy to within micro-millimeters. "This is a real eye-opener," said Arens, who was educated as an aeronautical engineer, when he learned the parts had been commissioned for Israel's aeronautics industry.
