

Malaysia Assailed By Australian Jewish Community

MELBOURNE (WNS) — The Australian government has been asked to convey to the Malaysian government the protest and indignation of the Australian Jewish community over Kuala Lumpur's ban on works of a Jewish composer. The Executive Council of Australian Jewry wrote to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Bill Hayden, after the controversy which led to the cancellation of a concert tour of Malaysia by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The Council president, Isi Leibler, condemned the Malaysian government's policy against the "screening, portrayal or musical presentation of works of Jewish origin" as contemptible racism. Leibler said that if Malaysia persisted with such policies, its efforts to improve its standing in critical areas of Australian public opinion would suffer. He noted that Malaysia's Prime Minister had visited Australia recently to attract investment and encourage greater cooperation between the two countries. "Malaysia's officially endorsed intolerance is not only offensive to Jews, it will be considered abhorrent by all in large sections of Australian society," Leibler added.

Malaysian government officials demanded that the New York Philharmonic drop a score composed by Jewish composer Ernest Bloch during its scheduled concerts there next month. The officials said they objected to the composition, "Schelomo, A Hebrew Rhapsody for Cello and Orchestra," because of the word "Hebrew." Malaysia did not oppose the inclusion of works by other Jewish composers in the program, such as Leonard Bernstein, George Gershwin and Aaron Copland.

High Court Issues Temporary Injunction Against West Bank Settlers

JERUSALEM (WNS) — Israel's Supreme Court issued a temporary injunction ordering suspension of work on a town for Orthodox settlers, Emmanuel, on northern Samaria. The Court acted on a request from a local Arab, who claims ownership of the site and who told the High Court that its previous orders halting construction had not been obeyed. A representative of the State of Israel expressed doubt whether the military commander for the area could implement the court orders. That statement triggered an angry reaction from Justice Meir Shamgar, president of the Court, who declared it was unheard of that the area's military commander, who embodies both the legislative and executive powers in the area, would disobey a High Court of Justice order. He ordered the State attorney to make certain that the order issued August 23 be handed to all parties concerned.

Israel Exports Electronic Fences And Alligators

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Israel is developing two unusual export items — electronic fences and alligators. According to a spokesman for the Israel Aircraft Industries, part owner of Magal, a local company manufacturing electronic fences, over 600 miles of Israeli-made electronic fences have been sold to foreign governments for installation along borders and around airports, nuclear reactors, parliaments and royal castles. One of the most recent deals was with the organizers of the Olympic Games in Los Angeles, where some six miles of fences with devices to signal penetrations, were installed around the Olympic villages. Although the other clients have not been named, they are understood to include Britain, where fences have been installed around royal residences. Israel developed the electronic fence system to safeguard its borders. Native crocodiles disappeared from Israel nearly 50 years ago, but alligators were reintroduced from Florida when a special alligator zoo was established near Lake Tiberias three years ago, when about 20 alligators were flown in. First attempts to breed them were unsuccessful, when of several dozen eggs laid in the first year only one baby alligator was hatched — and named Rishon LeZion (First in Zion.) Last year 180 "sabara alligators" were hatched, and the keepers of the nature preserve hope that this year over 250 of the eggs so far laid will hatch. The preserve authorities are now offering the Israeli alligators for sale to zoos and interested persons abroad.
