

Histadrut Agrees To Wage-Price Deal

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Histadrut representatives agreed in principle to a wage-price package deal after Finance Minister Yitzhak Modai dropped his plans to delay tax bracket reforms aimed at protecting wage earners from inflation.

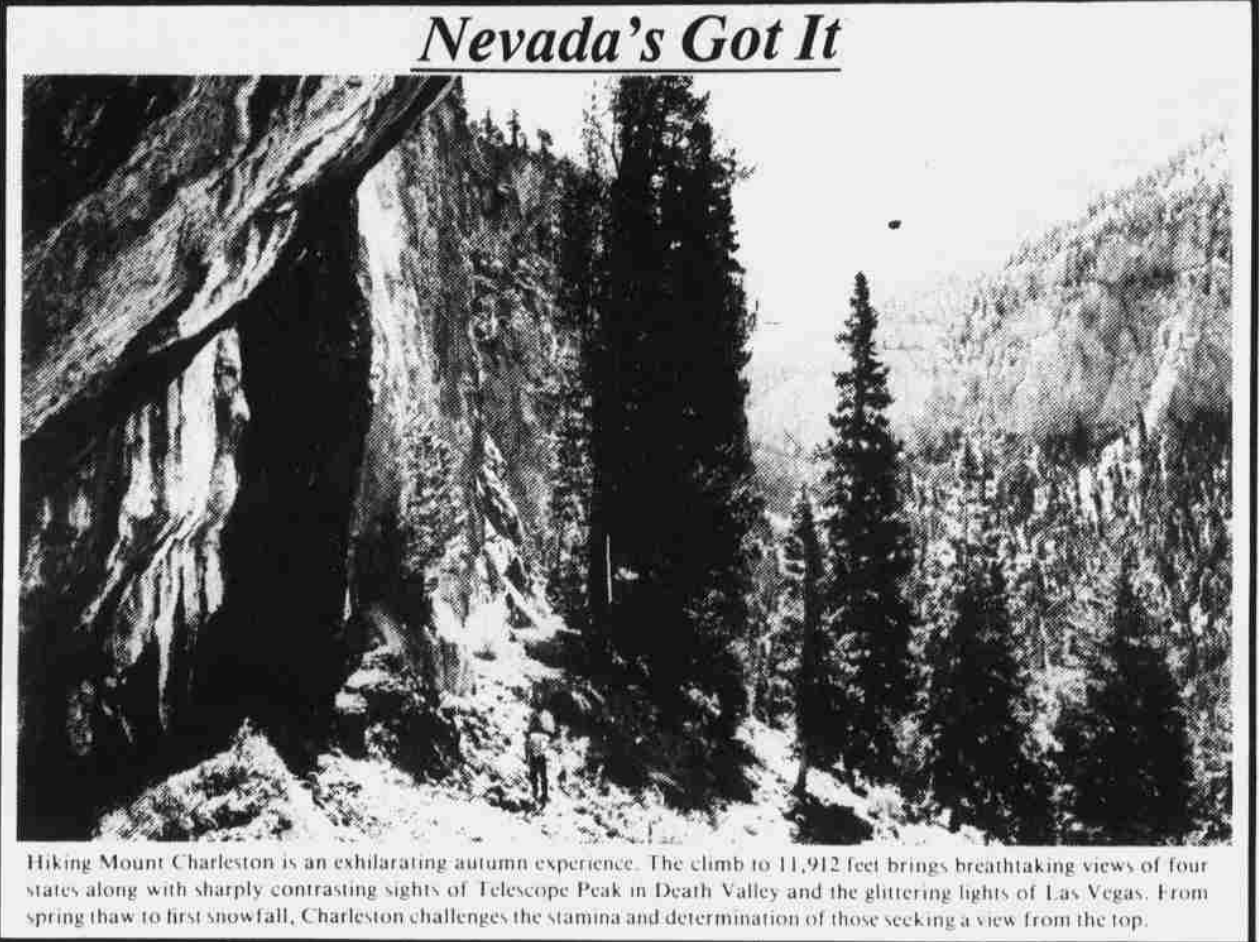

The Histadrut delegation met with senior Cabinet ministers assigned the task of working out a program to ease the economic crisis. Tax bracket reform was the major bone of contention between the trade union federation and the government. Deputy Premier David Levy said after the meeting that a wage-price freeze package could be worked out within a week.

Levy also suggested a compromise whereby the next cost-of-living allowance will be reduced by 10 percent and a compulsory loan imposed for two months. Last month's C.O.L. increase was 9.9 percent and this month's will be just over 13 percent. Therefore, under Levy's proposal, the net reduction would be only three percent. The C.O.L. allowance normally covers 80 percent of the monthly rise in the price index.

Meanwhile the proposed package deal on the freeze of prices, wages and taxes was postponed for an indefinite period. After the Government was convinced that it was impossible to impose a price freeze at present.

Instead, the Government chose as its first measure to cut the buying power of the public, by absorbing some 80 million dollars from the public within the next four months.

Hiking Mount Charleston is an exhilarating autumn experience. The climb to 11,912 feet brings breathtaking views of four states along with sharply contrasting sights of Telescope Peak in Death Valley and the glittering lights of Las Vegas. From spring thaw to first snowfall, Charleston challenges the stamina and determination of those seeking a view from the top.

This would be done, after the Government and the Histadrut reached an agreement Sept. 20 to impose a combined levy and compulsory loan on all incomes over the next four months. According to the agreement, a 10 percent levy would be imposed on higher incomes, and an eight percent levy on lower incomes. The next step should be the promised cuts on the Government expenditure. The government has already decided in principle to cut its budget by one billion dollars, but there are still exceptions taken by various Ministers regarding the extent and division of the cuts.

I KNOW WE SHOULD GO TO THE FUNERAL HOME

BUT, I NEVER KNOW WHAT TO SAY.

The fact is that nothing can be said to express adequately our loss or make the bereaved family feel better. But that doesn't mean that a visit and an expression of sympathy won't be helpful. Bereaved persons tell us that it's not the words that are helpful but that someone cared enough to go to the funeral home and express their sympathy in person. Sometimes just a hug or holding your friend's hand briefly is a good way to say "I care." When a friend loses a loved one go to the funeral home. Express your sympathy and offer your assistance. You'll be appreciated for caring.
