

South African Foreign Minister Visits Israel

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Nonetheless, foreign Israel played down the significance of the three-day private visit here of Foreign Minister Pik Botha of South Africa. Botha stressed after meeting in Jerusalem at the Foreign Ministry that relations between their countries are the normal relations that exist between any two friendly states and should not give rise to different inferences.

Botha who was greeted at the airport by Shamir, told reporters that there is nothing unique about his country's ties with the Jewish State. "What happens between Israel and South Africa is happening between South Africa and African states. We trade, we have normal relations," he declared.

Shamir affirmed that relations between the two countries were "normal" and noted that South Africa's Jewish community is flourishing and receives favorable treatment from the Pretoria government. Israel has stressed in the past the opposition to the apartheid policies of the South African government. Botha did not meet with Premier Shimon Peres.
