Westward Ho Timekeeper Celebrates 20 Years

IT'S TOE TAPPING TIME! -- George De Cou, Westward Ho's faithful timekeeper keeps all of the casino and main offices employees in line...and on time! George recently celebrated his 20 year anniversary at the Westward Ho, and has enjoyed each and every year! "It's the people and the owners that have made working at the Westward Ho a real pleasure," says De Cou.

The time never gets away from Mr. George De Cou. In fact, it flies for the Westward Ho timekeeper who has just celebrated his 20 year anniversary at the world's largest motel and casino.

March 28, 1964 began George's longtime employment history with the Westward Ho and its affiliates.

Nothing slips by De Cou...including time. His responsibility is to make sure all the other casino and main office employees check in and out in a punctual manner.

Time management has not always been George's main concern. Variety is said to be the spice of life, and the Westward Ho timekeeper has seen plenty of spice throughout his 20 years by spreading his expertise in the carpet cleaning and linen departments, as well as heading up the grounds department as superintendent for two years. His last two years have ironically been spent counting time for the other Westward Ho employees.

Except for the short stay in the hospital for minor surgery, George has always kept an excellent attendance record as an example for his fellow workers.

Married, and stepfather to three children, George is happy and content working at the Westward Ho, with his spare time spent hooking rugs and touring on his motorcycle.
