

Bright And Beautiful Juliet Prowse Stars In Moulin Rouge

During her record-breaking six-month engagement at London's renowned Prince of Wales Theatre in "Sweet Charity," the London Evening Standard unequivocally proclaimed her "London's Woman of the Year."

Prowse just doesn't appear at a night club, she creates and builds an entire show, as she does on stage in Las Vegas. In fact, in recognition of her professionalism, she received the Las Vegas "Female Star of the Year" award, as voted by her peers in the gaming city.

Solidarity Fast With Soviet Jewry

MONTREAL (WNS) — The Jewish community here is dramatizing its protest against the cruel treatment of Soviet Jews by a massive rotating fast undertaken by more than 1,000 students in the Montreal Jewish day school system and over a dozen synagogues.

The fast, which began on November 26 and will end on the eve of Chanukah, December 18, links Jews here with a like demonstration of protest in the Soviet Union where over 200 Jews are participating in an ongoing rotating fast.

The demonstration was triggered by the recent sentencing of four Soviet Jews to hard labor for teaching Hebrew. Another six are awaiting trial on the same charge. Hebrew is the only language which may not be taught in the USSR.

PROWSE STARS IN MOULIN ROUGE — Bright and beautiful Juliet Prowse is starring in the lavish French stage production "Bal du Moulin Rouge" in the Las Vegas Hilton's main showroom. The show also features the rich song stylings of Eric Gillett, the amusing antics of Tanya-the-Elephant and the amazing acrobatic endeavors of the Csardas Troupe. Moulin Rouge can be seen twice nightly, at 8 p.m. and midnight.

In her legitimate theatre appearances around the country, Prowse and her staff, package and produce entire productions of such Broadway hits as "Sweet Charity," "Irma La Douce," "On a Clear Day, You Can See Forever" and "Mame."

Prowse also has a list of several motion picture credits, including the 20th Century-Fox super production of "Can-Can," which elevated her to the status of international stardom.

Her experience with "Can-Can" has provided the ideal background for her performance in the Hilton's production of Moulin Rouge. Her dancing abilities shine in this show which is designed to accommodate a star like herself with such well-rounded talents.

"Bal du Moulin Rouge" is the most authentic slice of Parisian nightlife that can be found on an American stage.

The show features specialty acts and behind-the-scenes people imported directly to Las Vegas for the production. The "Can-Can" number, with its authentic costumes and scenery, is a special favorite of Hilton audiences.

Moulin Rouge also includes the rich song stylings of Eric Gillett, the amusing antics of Tanya-the-Elephant and the amazing acrobatic endeavors of the Csardas Troupe.

"Bal du Moulin Rouge" starring the lovely Juliet Prowse can be seen twice nightly in the main showroom. The 8:00 P.M. dinner show starts at $18.50 and the midnight show is $15.00.
