PARIS (WNS) — The influential French daily Le Monde has described France's new Foreign Minister Roland Dumas as a staunch and loyal pro-Arab, recalling that in past years he has intervened on behalf of Palestinian terrorists. Dumas, 64, was named to the post by President Mitterrand replacing Claude Cheysson, who left the government. Dumas is an attorney and former newspaper journalist.

BONN (WNS) — West Germany was the largest single source of tourism to Israel in Europe in 1984, according to the Israel government Tourist Office in the country. The Frankfurt-based office also reported that German tourism continued to increase during the entire year, with record numbers of West Germans going to Israel.

NEW YORK (WNS) — Contributions exceeding $100,000 have been donated by members of the American Jewish Committee to the agency's Ethiopian Relief Fund, it was announced by Dr. David Gordis, executive vice president of the AJC. The sum was collected within a week after an appeal was made to members by AJC president Howard Friedman.

BONN (WNS) — Stefan Heicking, a 22 year-old West Berlin student, received a one year suspended sentence for establishing a neo-Nazi organization called "German Labor Youths." Four of his friends, aged 21 to 28, were each fined 1,500 marks for membership in the group.

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Seven long time employees of the Tambour paint factory in Acre have been arrested and charged with stealing over $1 million worth of paint during the past 18 months. Acre police said the thieves are part of a ring of warehouse managers, truck drivers and paint shop owners who acted in collusion. The paints were loaded into company trucks without being recorded by the dispatchers, and were then sold to retailers at half price.

NEW YORK (WNS) — Soviet Jewish activist groups reported that 864 Jews were permitted to leave the Soviet Union in 1984. This is a significant drop from the peak year of Jewish emigration in 1971 when more than 50,000 Jews were permitted exit visas from the USSR, according to the Greater New York and the National Conference on Soviet Jewry.

HAIFA (WNS) — The First Annual Andrei Shkarov Prize for Science and Technology Journalism was presented to Yerach Tal, science correspondent for Haaretz for the reportage on environmental issues and their impact on society. The award is sponsored by the Technion - Israel Institute of Technology. It includes a $1,000 prize.

JERUSALEM (WNS) — Israel has barred entry to Brigitte Heinrich, a member of a delegation of the West German Green Party planning to visit Israel during their tour of the Middle East. Heinrich reportedly had been convicted in Germany for cooperating with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

MONTREAL (WNS) — The fifth annual World Jewish Song Festival, founded by a Montreal Jew, the late Samuel Jacobson, in 1980, will be held in Israel in the summer of 1985. Festival officials here said contestants must submit songs by March 21 to the World Jewish Songs Festival, 5025 Plamondon Avenue, Montreal, Canada.
