Jacob K. Javits To Be Honored At American Ort Federation National Conference Jan. 25-27, 1985

Jacob K. Javits, former U.S. Senator from New York, will receive the American ORT Federation Community Achievement Award at the AOF

National Conference which will be held January 25-27, 1985, at the Sheraton Centre, New York, announced Alvin L. Gray, AOF President. The conference marks the sixtieth anniversary of the incorporation of the American ORT Federation.

A special American ORT Federation Community Achievement Award will be presented to former Senator Jacob K. Javits at the Saturday Night Banquet Session January 26. Senator Javits has been a member of the AOF Board of Directors since 1946 when he saw ORT schools in operation in Displaced Persons Camps in Europe after the Second World War.

The American ORT Federation is made up of American Jews committed to the task of ORT, operating a global network of 800 schools and training centers which provide quality vocational and technical education to some 116,000 students throughout the Jewish world, 80,000 in Israel alone. ORT was founded in Czarist Russia in 1880. Today, ORT schools teach over 100 courses ranging from welding and carpentry to computer technology and robotics.

and "Over the Rainbow." Producer John Stuart, asked why he made a change in the show, said, "I like to keep the show fresh. It's not a static thing, the same show month after month. Instead we try new things, add special effects, add a new 'legend.' John Lennon, Hank Williams and John Wayne are some of the most popular acts with the audience, and none of them were in the show a year ago."

Legends has been at the Imperial Palace since May 5, 1983. In late November Stuart and the cast reached the milestone of their 1000th performance.

"I am continually contacted by talented performers," Stuart goes on, "artists who re-create some great movie or music legend. When I find an exceptional talent such as Monica Maris, I work the act into the show to get the reaction of the audience. In Monica's case, the response has been fantastic. I'm very thrilled to have her in the cast."

Legends in Concert presents Buddy Holly, Marilyn Monroe, Judy Garland, Hank Williams, John Lennon, Elvis Presley, and a special cameo appearance by John Wayne. Opening comic is popular Welsh comedian Dave Swan.

Presented twice nightly at 8:00 and 11:00, the show is priced at $11.95 plus tax which includes two cocktails.
