

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

BUENOS AIRES (WNS) — Alvara Alsogary, president of Argentina's Union Democratic Center, a politically right-center party, told B'nai B'rith and other Jewish community leaders here that he fully supports legislation to oppose all types of discrimination and is against any recognition of terrorist groups such as the PLO. Addressing a luncheon forum of the Argentine National Council of B'nai B'rith, Alsogary, who is also a member of Congress, said he opposes extremism, whether it is left or right, and thus would fight recognition of the PLO.

AMSTERDAM (WNS) — Police in Groningen have seized large quantities of books and pamphlets of the Nazi era which were part of an auction sale there recently. They acted on the orders of the local public prosecutor who may decide to bring charges against the auction house for violating an article of the Dutch penal code which makes the distribution of Nazi material a punishable offense.

JERUSALEM (WNS) — A West German official, on a recent visit to Israel, dedicated the Leibniz Center for Computer Science at the Hebrew University here. The Center was donated by the West German government which, according to the official, is promoting close cooperation between Israeli and German scientists and research facilities.

LOS ANGELES (WNS) — Two California Republicans -- Reps. Robert Dornan and Carlos Moorhead -- will introduce the Haym Salomon Memorial Act of 1985 in the House of Representatives this week, giving "national recognition" to the Polish-born Jew whose financial genius helped the United States win its war for independence 209 years ago, according to Marvin Feldman, president of American Jewish Patriots and Friends of Haym Salomon in Beverly Hills.

WALTHAM, Mass. (WNS) — Three new academic chairs have been endowed and support for programs at Brandeis University which includes the only advanced research center focussing entirely on American Jewry have been strengthened by a total of nearly $9 million in gifts reported by Evelyn Handler, Brandeis president. She said the gifts, which include six $1 million contributions, demonstrate "a renewed commitment to Brandeis in a era of intense competition for the support that enables learning centers to thrive and not merely survive."

WASHINGTON (WNS) — B'nai B'rith International contributed an initial $1,000 to the relief of the victims of a cyclone that devastated southeastern Bangladesh two weeks ago. Dr. Daniel Thursz, executive vice president of the Jewish service organization, called on B'nai B'rith lodges and units around the world, as well as all persons of the Jewish faith, to donate funds to the Moslem country.
