660 Suspected Nazi War Criminals Living In Canada

MONTREAL (WNS) recently that it has criminals who now live — A federal commission announced suspected Nazi war lived here and is weighing evidence against them.

Former Quebec Superior Court Justice Jules Deschenes who comprises the one-man commission outlined his next steps in the investigation. He has established a committee of six lawyers chaired by Douglas Adra, of Winnipeg, to review the evidence and report back on September 1. He has also set up a panel of lawyers and academicians to recommend by September 1 how Nazi war criminals found to be living in Canada might be brought to justice under existing or new legislation.
