Controversy Over Proposed
Renaming Of Street
For Anne Frank

the Holocaust. The change seems doomed inasmuch as the town council is dominated by the CDU which holds 20 seats to nine by the SPD.

Anne Frank, who died at the age of 15, became an international symbol of the horror of the Holocaust following the posthumous publication of her diaries after World War II. The proposal to name a street in her memory gained impetus after President Reagan and Chancellor Helmut Kohl visited the Bergen-Belsen site last May 5.

Guenther Ernst, a CDU official who publishes Bergen's weekly newspaper, said naming Bergen Street, which leads to Bergen-Belsen Anne Frank Street would amount to a "permanent presentation of the horrors of the Holocaust" and "we cannot reasonably expect the inhabitants of this town to take this."

He added, "The people of Bergen are fed up with shouldering an additional burden of guilt for what happened at Bergen-Belsen." They will not, he said, be branded "with the mark of Cain."

Reporters who talked to local residents shortly before the Reagan/Kohl visit found the same attitude. They heard complaints from townspeople that they were unjustly burdened by the tendency to link their town with the terrible story of Bergen-Belsen where tens of thousands of Jews, Gypsies and Russian prisoners of war died.

The older inhabitants claimed they had known nothing of what went on inside the concentration camp, only a stone's throw away. Youngsters, born after the war, said their parents refused to speak to them about the subject and their schools did not provide them with knowledge of the systematic killing of Jews in the nearby camp.

VIENNA (WNS) — The Netherlands will erect a memorial at Mauthausen, the former Nazi concentration camp, for the Dutch victims of the Holocaust. Several hundred Dutch citizens were murdered in Mauthausen during World War II. The Dutch memorial will be the 17th of its kind at the Mauthausen camp.

The 300D: the most powerful turbodiesel in America—if not the world.

The 300D's turbodiesel engine is a direct descendant of the engine Mercedes-Benz used to power the 195-mph C-111/3 world record-breaker.

That it offers remarkable performance with frugal efficiency is extraordinary. But what makes this five-passenger automobile unique is that it is also one of the world's most civilized sedans. Superbly equipped, elegantly appointed. In short, a magnificent synergy of performance and livability.

Test-drive the 300D today.

Prime Minister Peres Visits
Laniado Hospital In Netanya

visit to the hospital and to the Kiryat Sanz community when he was accosted by world-wide mass media reporters inquiring about Israel's position regarding the American hostages held in Lebanon.

National and city flags fluttered as the Prime Minister arrived to behold the remarkable Kiryat Sanz community in Netanya, Israel, which includes the internationally renowned Laniado Hospital and related institutions. Banners bidding welcome to the Prime Minister adorned many buildings in the community.

In remarks at a special reception, attended by Mayor Yoel Elroy, distinguished religious and civic leaders and over 400 guests from Israel and abroad, the Prime Minister remarked: "All the institutions of Kiryat Sanz, the Laniado Hospital, the Tessler School of Nursing, the Home for the Elderly, the Home for Orphans and a network of educational facilities have left a profound impression upon me. You have synthesized our age-old Jewish tradition with the contemporary needs of our people. I have found here a caring concern for fellow Jews, a responsiveness to the needs in the general population, the kind of healing which our people desperately needs at this time."

Laniado Hospital is the only medical facility serving over 200,000 residents of Netanya and vicinity, Israel's fifth largest city. Quality medical care is administered in an atmosphere of human dignity. Only 9 years old, Laniado already serves 40,000 emergency room patients a year. It is an American hospital, staffed primarily with American medical personnel and equipped with the most advanced American medical technology. Laniado Hospital has recently been awarded a grant from the United States Government in recognition of its vital importance to Israel's health and well-being.
