

Calm Before The Storm

Dr. Raold Zelichonok, an unofficial Hebrew teacher in Leningrad, conducts a class shortly before his recent arrest, in a photo obtained by the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and Colorado Committee of Concern for Soviet Jewry. The 48-year-old electronics engineer was charged with "anti-Soviet slander." His wife Galina, almost completely blind, now must fend for herself.

Shouts Of 'Death To Zionists' At Nairobi Women's Confab

NAIROBI, Kenya (WNS) — Shouts of "Death to Zionists" and "there will be no peace until we are free of this city as Arab women, blaming Zionists for all of the world's problems, disrupted discussions at the United Nations Conference on the End of the Women's Decade.

"Regardless of the scheduled subject of any meeting -- and I have witnessed it at meetings on infant and child care, battered women, and water-purification -- anti-Zionist accusations, slogans and speeches took over the discussion," declared Phyllis Heideman of Louisville, Ky., a delegate of B'nai B'rith International.

Heideman added that whenever anyone attempted to refute the Arabs or defend Israel and the Jews, she was shouted down or the microphone was cut off.

"It is obvious that those people who are injecting poison into the minds of listeners are well-prepared and well-rehearsed," Heideman said. "Not only did they make their points orally, but they came with hundreds of photos, exhibits and mountains of false statistics to help them 'prove' their points."

On the other hand, she stated, most of the delegates from Western nations arrived "poorly briefed and totally unprepared" to counter the Arabs and their allies. "It is clear that these propagandists have made international conferences major forums for their hatred," the B'nai B'rith delegate said.

"Americans and other Westerners must do their homework and be prepared to face this kind of attack at all multinational meetings," she added.
