"The Mind With The Dirty Man" At The Union Plaza

From the opening announcement - "Welcome" to "The Mind With The Dirty Man," the scintillating comedy of the Union Plaza's main showroom vibrates with the thrill of Broadway theater. With an underlying theme of S-E-X is happiness, "The Mind With The Dirty Man" is packed with forward and enlightening views on attaining both sex and happiness.

Seasoned performers Phil Ford and Mimi Hines, real-life partners playing the Stones, set a natural identity for the saucy, fun-filled play. The theme is especially serious for 49-year-old Alma Stone, played by Mimi Hines, who more than wishes for a better sex life with straight and narrow-boss's wife, SANDY STUPAK. It's the update Vegas version of "All In The Family."
