Las Vegas Hilton Brings First $25 Slots To Las Vegas

$25 SLOTS -- The Las Vegas Hilton recently unveiled four $25 slot machines which are the first to be added to a Las Vegas casino. A lucky slot player is seen here displaying the one ounce pure silver token that is used in the machine.

The Las Vegas Hilton recently unveiled four $25 slot machines on its casino floor that can yield a nearly 98 percent return on a player's investment, a spokesman for the resort's slot department said.

The machines, all brand new models, paid out a total of $245,150 in winnings in the first 30 hours of operation. While only two others exist in the state, one in Lake Tahoe and the other in Riverside, the Hilton is the first casino to add the $25 slots in Las Vegas.

"Obviously, we think it's going to be a success because we put four of these machines on the floor," said Cecil Fredi, slot manager. "We're extremely serious about this."

The machines, which are three-reel, non-progressives, take a one ounce pure silver token. One to three tokens can be played with a possible $15,000 top jackpot pay-off. The token was designed in-house by the Las Vegas Hilton and manufactured by Nevada Coin Mart.

5,000 tokens were manufactured for use in the machines, but said Fredi, the hotel will have to reorder very soon because of the tokens popularity among collectors. "The tokens are being picked up by collectors all around the state."

The resort has plans to put more of the $25 machines in the casino if these four slot machines continue to be as successful as they are at the present time.

A representative for Bally Manufacturing, the major manufacturer of slot machines, has been quoted as saying that the Las Vegas Hilton's $25 slots are the "loosest" machines he has ever dealt with as a group.

"The significant thing about these is that you can play these machines at your own pace and you only have two percent against you," Fredi said.

Fatah Leader Allowed To Leave For Jordan

JERUSALEM (WNS) — Khalil Abu-Ziad, described by Israeli security authorities as a senior Fatah leader in East Jerusalem and the West Bank, departed with his wife for Amman under an unprecedented agreement he reached with the authorities.

Abu-Ziad, an East Jerusalem resident, had served a 10-year prison term, and another three years under administrative house arrest for his involvement in Fatah, the largest faction of the PLO. He was served August 8 with a deportation order signed by Gen. Amnon Shahak, head of the Military Command. The Military Command said Abu-Ziad was a security risk, and his deportation was essential for the safety of the population.

He appealed the deportation order to the High Court of Justice, but even before the Court reviewed the case, Abu-Ziad reached an agreement with the authorities. According to the agreement, he would voluntarily leave the country for three years, and would be allowed to return after three years on the condition that during this period he did not associate himself in anti-Israel activities.

Sertoma Clubs Honor George Liberace

Dora Liberace receives plaque from Paul Sant, President of Paradise Sertoma Club at occasion of final report on Sertoma fund raising. First Annual George Liberace Memorial Concert Clark County Commissioners recognized George Liberace's contributions to children and hearing impaired children in Southern Nevada. All funds raised at concert went to Children's Hospital at S.N.M.H.

The Las Vegas Sertoma Clubs and auxiliary La Sertoma raised funds at their recent concert to aid deaf children and to honor the late George Liberace.

The plaque was presented to Liberace's widow, Dora, by Paradise Sertoma President, Paul Sant. George Liberace had been a member of the Club before his death and helped aid deaf and hearing-impaired children throughout the community. The funds raised at the first Liberace Memorial Concert were donated to the Children's Hospital of Southern Nevada Memorial and are to be used to provide equipment for testing and services for hearing-impaired children.
