Sincere condolences to the family and friends of Leonard "Len" Shafer, who passed away recently in Las Vegas at age 69.

Shafer was born August 28, 1916, in Salem, Mass. He was a resident of Las Vegas since 1944.

He began with the Dunes in a publicity position and expanded his duties into marketing and sales. He was with the resort for 27 years and played a key role in enlarging its reputation beyond the California and Nevada area.

He promoted junkets from all over the world and spearheaded the Dunes' early efforts to work with airlines to put together package tours to Las Vegas.

A spokesman for the Dunes said many longtime employees were saddened to hear of his death because he was well-liked and gained the respect of many employees through his good nature.

Prior to retiring, as vice president and director of sales, Shafer spent most of his time bringing convention business to the Dunes.

He served with the U.S. Marines in World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn; two sons, Jared, who is President of Temple Beth Shalom and Bernard, all of Las Vegas; and two grandchildren.

He was a member of Temple Beth Shalom. The family has asked that memorial donations be made to the Nathan Adelson Hospice or to Temple Beth Shalom.

There will be two added bonuses to this particular production. First, following the Thursday night performance on January 30, the theatre will hold a brief question and answer period to include a counselor, a lawyer, a religious figure, and various cast members. The discussions will be free to all audience members. The sessions will give theatre patrons a chance to view their feelings on the play and its subject matter. Also, the theatre will be offering a Super-Saver Super-bowl Sunday. On January 26, anybody attending the Sunday matinee will be admitted at half price. For reservations and information, please call the theatre at 734-6971.

"An overwhelming tribute to life" is how Gene Shalit of NBC-TV describes "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" The play is not a play about judgments or morals but about choices, whose right it is to make these choices, and about life. "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" is intended for audiences seeking an enjoyable time.
