

For Less Than $10 See A Million Dollars Worth Of Superstars

LAS VEGAS — Sit back, relax, close your eyes and fantasize. Picture the setting! Bright lights, beautiful costumes, fun, fantasy and illusions all rolled into one of the most talked about shows in Las Vegas. Only at "An Evening at La Cage" can you see a million dollars worth of superstars for less than $10. The Mardi Gras Room of the Riviera Hotel comes alive with some of the entertainment world's biggest legends. No where else can you see Marilyn Monroe, Judy Garland, Carol Channing, Dionne Warwick, Pearl Bailey, Diana Ross, Aretha Franklin, Barbra Streisand, Liza Minnelli, Tina Turner and the incredible Joan Rivers all on one stage, created by the world's most famous female impersonators. It's no wonder that "An Evening at La Cage" has walked away with numerous entertainment awards.

Producers Lou Pacincco and Norbert Aleman have created excitement that can be found only in the Mardi Gras Room. Beautiful, brilliant impersonators, colorful production numbers and stunning costumes are spot-lighted three times a night at 7, 9, and 11 p.m., every night except Tuesday.

It's become apparent every night boys will be girls. That is, of course, if they're talented enough to project fantasy and illusion with style, taste and glamor.

When you see Miss Joan Rivers, clapping hands outstretched in front of her, appear onto the stage, there is a handsome, dark haired Frank Marino underneath. This act is truly amazing. You can't believe the perfection and execution of his routine, everything from the look, the clothes, the mannerisms and best of all, the hilarious humor.

"An Evening at La Cage" headlining in the Mardi Gras Room, located on the third floor, is one filled with fun, fantasy, and illusion that's guaranteed to leave you amazed. "An Evening at La Cage" is sheer theatrical magic!

Arm Wrestling Tournament Taped At Imperial Palace To Air In March

The broadcast schedule has been announced for the Pro Baseball Arm Wrestling Championship held in Las Vegas. The tournament was taped before a live audience in the showroom of the Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino, November 24, 1985. Corporate sponsor of the event was Van Melle, Inc., maker of "Mentos" candy. Promoter was Arm Wrestling International (AWI) under Tony Celeste, President.

ESPN Sports Network will air the show in four half-hour segments as follows:

- Show #1 March 10, 8:00 p.m. EST (11:00 p.m. EST)
- Show #2 March 17, same time as above
- Show #3 March 24, same time as above
- Show #4 March 31, same time as above

Men from each pro baseball team competed in the tournament. Willie Horton of the Chicago White Sox and Dave Owen of the Chicago Cubs shared first place prize money of $5,000. Second place went to Rick Renick and Tim Raines of the Montreal Expos.

Separate competition paired off professional men and women arm wrestlers. Victory in the men's heavyweight division went to John Walker of Atlanta, Georgia. Lori Cole of Hollywood, California, was the winner in the women's "Tournament of Champions."

The next TV taping at the Imperial Palace will be the Myoflex Pro Football Team Arm Wrestling Championship on June 8, 1986. Also on that date will be the Professional Men's Light Heavyweight Championship and the Professional Women's Arm Wrestling Championship.
