

Silver Dragon Scholarships

UNLV now offers two new graduate scholarships, thanks to a donation by Stanley Liang, owner of the Silver Dragon Restaurant in Las Vegas.

Liang made the initial $1,000 donation to UNLV President Robert C. Maxson, interim Graduate College Dean Ronald Smith, and Dr. Sue Fawn Chung, director of international programs. It will be used to fund two $500 scholarships.

"We are very appreciative of the support we get from the community's leading businesses, such as the Silver Dragon," Dr. Maxson said. "Mr. Liang is a good friend of ours."

Liang intends to supplement the Silver Dragon Scholarship Fund with proceeds from dinners sold at his restaurant.

"The profits from dinners on the first Monday of each month will go to the UNLV scholarship fund," Liang explained. "The price of the meal will be the same as a non-scholarship meal, but the difference will be in my internal bookkeeping, where I will keep an annual record of the profits from scholarship dinners, which will be used for additional UNLV scholarships."

Liang, a retired engineer who entered the restaurant business, was born in China and educated in the United States. He said he is grateful for the scholarships that he and his children have received in the United States, and decided to stimulate and reward academic achievement by establishing the graduate scholarship fund.

"With this donation I hope to encourage other businesses in Las Vegas to consider establishing scholarship funds for UNLV students," Liang said. "Youths are among the world's greatest assets."

N.Y. Rabbi Fired On In Old City

JERUSALEM (WNS) — A New York rabbi was fired on by an unidentified assailant in the Old City while walking alone from Sabbath services at the Western Wall. Rabbi David Blumenfeld, who is executive director of the New York City Holocaust Memorial Commission, was slightly injured by stone fragments that grazed his head after a bullet aimed at him ricocheted off a wall. He was wearing a white silk skullcap at the time.

Blumenfeld, a member of Temple Israel in Great Neck, N.Y., a 1,300-member Conservative congregation headed by Rabbi Mordechai Waxman, made his way bleeding to Kishleh police station at the nearby Jaffa Gate. He was taken to Hadassah Hospital for treatment of what were minor wounds. Police, who closed off the area,

Fifth Annual Imperial Palace Antique Auto Run Scheduled

October 24th-26th are the dates set for the 5th Annual Imperial Palace Antique Auto Run in Las Vegas. This colorful event for autos built before 1936 is so popular with antique auto buffs that the limit on number of entrants will probably be reached by early summer. Last year no reservations were accepted after mid-August.

"We have 270 cars entered so far," says Kris Engelstad, coordinator of the Auto Run, "and 60 of those came within a week after last October's Run. People had such a good time, many of them filled out their entry cards before they checked out of the hotel."

Route this year will be the same as last year's, a 144 mile trip through the Valley of Fire State Park with a stop for a catered barbecue lunch at Boulder Beach on Lake Mead. Drivers and passengers are encouraged to wear costumes to match the eras of their autos.

To register for the 5th Annual Imperial Palace Antique Auto Run, call the Imperial Place toll free, (800) 351-7400.

found the gun used by the assailant. According to a police spokesman, about 20 Arab suspects were detained for questioning.

The incident was the latest in an upsurge of violence and the second assault with a deadly weapon in two days. An Israeli taxi driver, Moshe Ansaem, was stabbed in the chest March 6 after picking up two Arab passengers in Beersheba. He was taken to Soroka Hospital in Beersheba where his condition was reported to be serious.

Rabbi Blumenfeld said later that whoever attacked him wanted "to instill fear in all Jews visiting the Old City." He said the shooting would never deter him.

Israeli authorities said about 200 suspected members of terrorist organizations were detained after the assassination of Zafer Al-Masri, the Israel-appointed new mayor of Nablus. All but 20 have been released.

The authorities noted a sharp rise in the number of terrorist incidents in the administered territories since King Hussein of Jordan announced last month that he was abandoning his efforts with PLO chief Yasir Arafat to bring the PLO into the peace process. According to the authorities, there were 76 terrorist incidents in the past two weeks compared to 43 in the previous two-week period.

Police noted that taxi drivers have become a favorite target of terrorists. Most drivers now carry a pistol and are equipped with two-way radio communications. Ansaem had neither when he picked up two Arabs in the center of Beersheba and was told to drive them to Tel Sheva, a Bedouin village east of town. Once out of Beersheba, Ansaem was grabbed around the throat by one passenger sitting behind him while the other, in the front seat, stabbed him.
