

Photography Student At Hadassah Community College Awarded Outstanding Student Of The Year Prize For 1986 By The Israel Professional Photographers Association

Prizes for the outstanding Student of the Year 1986 were awarded by the Israel Professional Photographers Association to Yoram Bouzaglo, a second year photography student at Hadassah Community College in Jerusalem.

Jerusalem...Yoram Bouzaglo, a second year student in photography at the Hadassah Community College, was awarded the 1986 prize for Outstanding Student of the Year by the Israel Professional Photographers Association.

The award, which carries a $600 cash prize, was open to students throughout Israel.

A 25-year-old sabra and a veteran of the war in Lebanon, Bouzaglo won for photographs selected from two of his series: "the world of the earth and the unreality of the sky"; and a second series illustrating "togetherness." He says that the choice of his themes might be a reaction to his experience in Lebanon.

After graduation this year he hopes to combine work in a commercial studio with producing artistic photographs for display.

Hadassah Community College has trained hundreds of students in all forms of photography since it inaugurated Israel's first training course in photography in 1970.

First Federal Savings
Opens 27th Office

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Nevada opened its newly constructed branch at 5085 Bonanza Road East at 10 a.m. on Monday, May 5.

This office, the sixth area branch of the 27-office savings and loan is a full-service bank with a drive-up window, an automated teller machine, night depository, and safe-deposit boxes.

"Many of our customers have expressed appreciation that we're opening an office in the northeast part of town," said President Ed Houston.

"We're happy to be in the area where we can offer the residents, businesses, and Nellis personnel our full line of savings, lending, and checking services," said Houston.

First Federal Savings, founded in 1889, is the oldest savings and loan in Nevada.

Eastern Airlines Tells AJCongress It Will Drop Arab-Owned 'Third World Magazine' From Flights

Eastern Airlines says it will no longer make the magazine South available to its passengers as part of its in-flight library.

A complaint lodged with the airline by the American Jewish Congress charged the Arab-owned publication with being "devoted almost exclusively to maligning Israel and the United States."

A letter of reply from Donald F. Lohr, an Eastern official, said that the complaint from AJCongress and others "have convinced us to discontinue boarding this publication."

The South which calls itself "The Third World Magazine," recently described Yasir Arafat as "one of the great freedom fighters of our time," according to AJCongress, which noted that Arafat personally had ordered the assassination of the U.S. ambassador to Sudan in 1973 as well as other terrorist acts.

The complaint to Eastern, which was signed by Phil Baum, associate executive director of AJCongress, asserted that the kind of propaganda contained in South "is slanted, mendacious and highly offensive to many passengers."

Mr. Baum noted that AJCongress does not want to censor the magazine and that "we unreservedly support South's right to be published and to be sold anywhere in the world." But he added that unlike public libraries or bookstores, institutions like doctors' offices or airlines, which offer their clients only a small selection of publications, have a responsibility to avoid including materials that are offensive to large segments of the public such as pornography or "blatant political propaganda."

Seniors United was organized to unite all the seniors residing in the State of Nevada. It was organized to bring together concerned seniors living in our community. All seniors are urged to join this dedicated group of people. In unity there is strength, is a quotation that never grows old or changes its meaning.

At the May 14, 1986 meeting of Seniors United we will have as our guest speakers the candidates who are seeking election in the Southern Nevada Congressional District.

Seniors United meets every second Wednesday each month at 10 a.m. For further information, please call 386-1720.
