Sakharov's 65th Birthday

NEW YORK — Theodore Ellenoff, President of the American Jewish Committee, issued the following statement on the occasion of Andrei Sakharov's 65th birthday, which has been designated National Sakharov Day:

"The American Jewish Committee extends its warmest greetings to Andrei Sakharov on the occasion of his 65th birthday, being honored throughout the United States as National Sakharov Day. Over the years AJC has supported the valiant struggle waged by the moral giant and 1975 Nobel Peace Prize winner who abandoned his privileged position in Soviet society to dedicate himself to the cause of human rights for all Soviet citizens. Enduring great physical and psychological abuse and indignities perpetrated against himself, his wife Yelena Bonner and other members of his family, he stands as a symbol of courage and a source of inspiration to all those who fight for human dignity and freedom. We wish Sakharov many years of strength, and add our voices to the millions of others calling upon the Soviet Government to liberate him from the harsh and shameful exile which this great scientist and world citizen has suffered for so many years."

The American Jewish Committee is this country's pioneer human relations organization. Founded in 1906, it combats bigotry, protects the civil and religious rights of Jews here and abroad, and advances the cause of improved human relations for all people everywhere.

Israel Offers Its Agricultural Expertise To African Nations

UNITED NATIONS (WNS) — Israel offered to share its expertise in agriculture and arid zone research with the nations of Africa and to cooperate with them in innovative research and development. David Kimche, director general of Israel's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, made the proposal recently, in an address to the Special Session of the General Assembly on the "Critical Economic Situation in Africa."

"Israel wishes to share the fruits of its experience with the peoples of Africa," Kimche declared. "We are not a large country, nor do we have large budgets at our disposal. We do, however, have a great deal of experience in rural development and agriculture under difficult conditions."

"Also, as a people with an unparalleled history of being victims of racial persecution, we maintain a large reservoir of good will and sympathy for the people of Africa. We are earnestly seeking ways in which we can transfer the relevant aspects of our experience and know-how to Africa."

Noting that Israel has trained in the last three decades tens of thousands of persons from over 110 countries, the Israeli official stated: "Israel is willing to work with African countries and the international community in assisting to relieve one of the most critical constraints to African economic development: that of know-how transfer." He suggested Israel conduct courses in various African countries and to train African students abroad.

Israel presently holds diplomatic ties only with six African countries: Zaire, Swaziland, Malawi, Liberia, Lesotho and the Ivory Coast. Most of the African states cut diplomatic ties with the Jewish State after the 1973 Yom Kippur War.

Kimche's offer to the African nations to put at their disposal Israel know-how and agricultural expertise, were seen by diplomats and observers here as part of Israel's continued efforts to restore its diplomatic relations with as many as possible countries in
