KNPR-FM, 89.5, public radio for southern Nevada, started a new 24-hour Arts Hotline service.

The line, 458-ARTS (458-2787) will include a three minute calendar of upcoming arts events. The listings will include classical music performances, jazz, plays, film showings, art shows and other events. Each listing will include a description of the event, time, date and place, ticket information and a reference number.

In announcing the new service, KNPR General Manager Lamar Marchese said:

"This line will fill a real need for the community. We want to help southern Nevada residents to learn about cultural events that interest them. KNPR works hard to be a catalyst and a showcase for cultural events in southern Nevada, and we feel this line will help support and strengthen the arts community. The KNPR Artsline also is a good supplement to our on-the-air arts reports and announcements."

The telephone number for the line will be announced regularly over KNPR and sent to local publications. The line will be prepared by KNPR staff with information from the Allied Arts Council and other sources. It will be updated twice weekly.

KNPR also will accept commercial sponsors for the line, to help cover the costs. Potential sponsors may call Kathy Rose, Development Director at KNPR, 456-6695.

Southern Nevada residents may call the KNPR Artsline, 458-ARTS, beginning Sunday morning. For further information, contact: Kathy Rose, 456-6695. For an up-to-date listing of arts and cultural events in southern Nevada, call the KNPR-FM, 89.5, Artsline, 458-ARTS, 24 hours a day.

The Clark County School District's Sunset Symphony, featuring 100 local children and teens, ranging in ages from seven to 17, performed for President Reagan on his recent trip to Las Vegas.

The event, held at the Las Vegas Hilton's Grand Ballroom allowed the orchestra to display their expertise in the "Salute to America" repertoire. Mike Allard, director of the orchestra, indicated that although summer vacation had already begun, the bond that brought the youngsters together for many successful concerts once again united them for this exciting performance.

This is another positive result of the partnership formed with the Clark County School District and The Showboat Hotel. The Showboat Hotel hosts the Sunset Symphony's annual concert series in their sports pavilion throughout the school year.
