"Buddy Holly"
Adds To Hot
August Nights Sizzle

"Hot August Nights," a '50s festival held recently in Reno, NV, featured music of the era. Among those participating in the event were "Legends in Concert" cast members who perform twice nightly (except Sunday) in the Imperial Theatre of the Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. Emcees were Wolfman Jack and Edd "Kookie" Byrnes. In addition to "Legends" cast members who re-create legendary superstars such as Buddy Holly, Elvis Presley, and Marilyn Monroe, among others, the bill included the Righteous Brothers, The Shirelles, The Platters, Jan and Dean, Del Shannon and the Coasters. Local radio station KYYX ran a contest to identify 12 V.I.P. winners that were flown to Reno to partake in the festivities.

George Trullinger, who portrays Buddy Holly in "Legends in Concert," was on hand at KYYX prior to the event to present local winner Jo-Ann Proffit with airline and hotel accommodation

Comedian Dave Swan From
'Legends In Concert' At The Imperial Palace The First To
Participate In Highway
Patrol's 'Stars For Safety'

Dave Swan, the comedy star of the Imperial Palace's hit show, "Legends in Concert," recently was presented a Certificate of Appreciation and a belt buckle from the Nevada Highway Patrol for being the first celebrity to participate in their "Stars for Safety Program." Swan has thus far done two PSAs (Public Service announcements) for the Highway Patrol. One was to cut down on drunk driving and the other was why it is imperative to use seat belts. Pictured with Dave Swan (R) in front of the Nevada Highway Patrol offices is Dennis G. Green, Region I Commander of the Nevada Highway Patrol.
