

Shultz Mideast Visit Postponed

WASHINGTON (WNS) — Assistant Secretary of State Richard Murphy's unannounced trip to the Middle East has once again led to speculation that Secretary of State George Shultz is preparing to visit the region. But State Department deputy spokesman Charles Redmon stressed that "no decision has been taken."

(According to later reports from Washington, quoting high-ranking Administration officials, Mr. Shultz decided against making a trip to the Middle East. The report quoted the officials as saying that Richard Murphy's special mission had failed to produce sufficient results to warrant the trip.)

He repeated Shultz's position on visiting the Mideast where the Secretary of State has not been since the Israel-Lebanon agreement he brokered in 1983 was abandoned by Lebanon. "The Secretary has consistently expressed his willingness to travel to the area whenever his presence would assist the parties," Redmond said.

Shabbat In Beijing

Adherents of a dozen religions, delegates to the International Council of the World Conference on Religion and Peace, took part in Sabbath services during the WCRP's recent meeting in China's capital.
