

(L-R) Sandy Berman, Harriett Donitz, Estelle Auslander & Tamara Ostrow

Temple Beth Am Sisterhood Approves Their Brand New Constitution & By-Laws

(L-R) Melissa D. Hecht, Micki D. Hecht & Ferne Unger

Hazel Gold & Rabbi Mel Hecht

(L-R) Sylvia Pizer, Estelle Reise & Blanche Bernstein

(L-R) Frances Copeland & Fran Fine

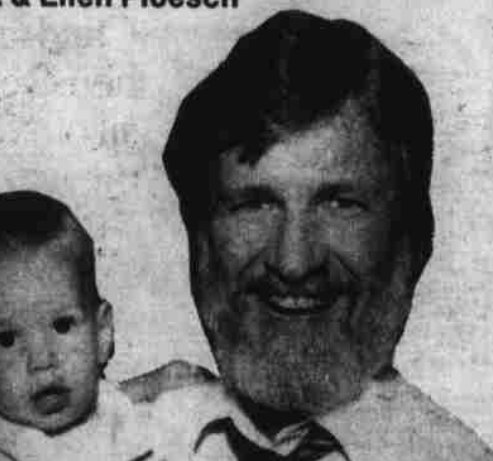

(L-R) Beulah Neistadt & Ellen Ploesch

(L-R) Suzann Denton Pratt & Linda Alpern

(L-R) Zelda Cassatta, Vanessa Schuman & Dorothy Grant

Melissa D. Hecht & Rabbi Mel Hecht

Pioneers are not a thing of the past. They labor and live in our own day as well. Everytime people gather together to create a new way of life, such as in Israel; everytime they form a new organization or institution to express their ideals and values - they are "Haluztim". "Pioneers."

We're inclined to romanticize such people. But much of their work and involvement is fundamental, if not mundane, and involves who shall lead them and what laws and rules will govern them.

So also with the newly formed SISTERHOOD OF TEMPLE BETH AM. Recently, their members gathered at the University Center For Religion And Life to approve the Constitution and By-Laws that will guide them in the years to come. It was brought to them by the Chairperson of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee, (Attorney and Sisterhood Charter Member,) Fran Fine. And after the kind of discussion characteristic of our particular brand of "Haluztim," it was approved and accepted.

But the evening wasn't all work and no play. Afterwards, there was a "Charter Members Party" highlighted by a drawing for dinner for two at THE STEAK HOUSE in Circus Circus (won by new Las Vegas resident and member, Linda Alpern). Second prize of Casino Midway Activity passes went to Zelda Cassatta.

Membership is open to anyone seeking Jewish Activity and Fellowship; and is not limited to Temple members.