U.S. Government Receives Special Gift: Jewish Chapel At West Point

Symbolic papers were passed as the West Point Jewish Chapel was formally transferred to the U.S. Government in ceremonies on the Chapel's grounds. Lt. Gen. Dave R. Palmer, Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy accepts the gift from Herbert M. Ames, President of the West Point Jewish Chapel Fund. The $7.5 million Jewish Chapel was presented free and clear of any debt, yet the Fund is still obligated for less than $1-million. It expects to raise these funds by year-end.

When Reagan-Gorbachev Meet

WASHINGTON (WNS) — President Reagan announced that he will meet Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in Reykjavik, Iceland, October 11-12 to prepare for a summit conference in Washington.

Secretary of State George Shultz, who appeared with Reagan for the White House announcement, said that, as in all meetings with the Soviet Union, human rights will be discussed along with arms control, bilateral problems and regional issues. "You can be sure we are going to keep the subject of human rights on the agenda," Shultz said.

The announcement came as Nicholas Daniloff, the U.S. News & World Report correspondent arrested in Moscow on charges of spying August 30, was en route to Washington after being allowed to leave the USSR recently.

The White House statement also was made shortly after Gennadi Zakharov, a Soviet employee of the United Nations, pleaded no contest to three charges of spying in the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, N.Y. Shultz said that Zakharov left the United States for the Soviet Union.

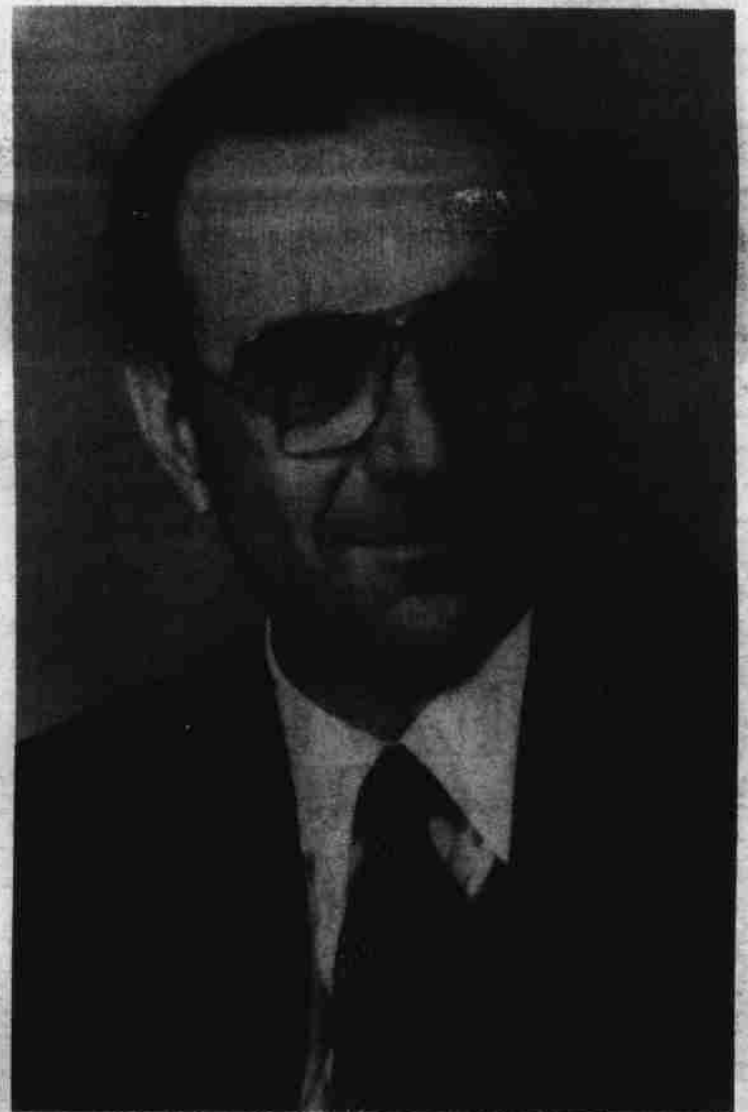

He also announced that Yuri Orlov, the 62-year-old founder of the Moscow Helsinki Watch whom he called "a giant of the Soviet human rights movement," departed the Soviet Union for the U.S. with his wife, Irina. Orlov, a physicist, had been a close associate of Anatoly Shcharansky until his arrest for "anti-Soviet activities" in Oc-

Shcharansky's Mother Gets Check-Up

Jerusalem... Ida Milgrom (center), recently permitted to leave the Soviet Union and join her noted son, Anatoly -- now Natan -- Shcharansky in Israel, gets a hug from her daughter-in-law Avital, after getting a check-up by Dr. Mervyn Gotsman, head of Cardiology Department of the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center at Ein Karem. Dr. Gotsman said the mother of the former Soviet dissident is in "satisfactory" condition.
