

Shamir Addresses UN General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS (WNS) — Israel Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir told the United Nations that "Israel remains anxious and willing to move the peace process forward without delay."

In an address to the General Assembly, Shamir cited Israel's 1979 peace treaty with Egypt which he said "was intended to be the first in a series of treaties that together would constitute a comprehensive settlement of the Arab-Israel conflict."

He lashed out at "those who are afraid of peace, or are seeking to evade peace with Israel, are trying to promote an alternative to direct negotiations and, ultimately to peace itself by means of an international conference. "Let me repeat again: Experience proves that the only path to peace is through direct negotiations," Shamir said. Substitutes for such negotiations can only lead away from peace. The history of our region provides ample evidence of this simple truth."

Shamir, who will take office as Prime Minister on October 14 under the unity coalition government's rotation of power agreement, added: "We turn again to the leaders of our Arab neighbors with an outstretched hand of peace. Let us bring an end to belligerency and hatred. Let us make real the hopes for a new era of understanding and co-existence. We shall not spare any effort in this quest. Nor will we give up hope that it will bear fruit."

Shamir observed pointedly that Egypt, the only Arab state to sign a peace treaty with Israel, has benefitted by it. He appealed directly to King Hussein of Jordan to enter peace talks with Israel. "We recognize that once it decides to respond to our call, Jordan may face considerable opposition from some Arab quarters. This opposition, however, will not be deflected or appeased by such devices as an international conference," Shamir said.

At a press conference after addressing the Assembly, Shamir said that the most important meeting he had during his week in New York was with Secretary of State George Shultz. He said the two discussed all aspects of economic and strategic cooperation between Israel and the U.S.

Shamir said that

Shultz noted the impressive advances Israel has made on the economic front and advised Shamir to encourage the private sector to play a larger role in Israel's economy. The two men agreed that Israel cannot afford to reduce defense spending.

Choosing a doctor for your young one definitely isn't child's play.

But now it can be easier than ever before, with the help of the FREE Physician Information ServiceSM at Humana Hospital - Sunrise.

With just one phone call to (702) 731-8211, we can put you in touch with a pediatrician in our area who's uniquely qualified to care for your child. Because the doctor you're looking for should not only be competent, compassionate, and caring—he or she should also be affiliated with a hospital specially equipped and staffed to provide the quality medical care your child deserves.

Here in southern Nevada, that hospital is Humana Hospital - Sunrise.

Through our new Children's Pavilion, pediatricians have access to highly specialized pediatric care in such areas as surgery, neurology, cardiology, ophthalmology, and neonatology. Our Pediatric Intensive Care Unit—featuring state-of-the-art diagnostic and monitoring equipment—is the only one of its kind in Las Vegas. We are also home to the region's only designated neonatal nursery specifically designed for the care of infants. All of which makes it possible for us to provide total, comprehensive care for virtually any medical need your child may have, from infancy through adolescence.

Most important of all, pediatricians affiliated with Humana Hospital - Sunrise Children's Pavilion are supported by a staff of expertly trained medical personnel whose first concern is your child's well-being. And who never forget that when your child is hurt or sick, no one Nothing is more precious than your child's good health. Humana Hospital - Sunrise can help you protect it, with FREE pediatrician information. Call (702) 731-8211 today.

suffers more than you.

That's why, even though growing up can sometimes be painful, it's good to know that finding the right doctor for your child doesn't have to be.

Call our Physician Information Service, Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM-5:00 PM, for FREE physician information. There's no way you can totally protect your young one from the aches and pains, the cuts and scrapes, of childhood. But getting to know one of our pediatricians can help. So call today.

Call the Physician Information ServiceSM today at (702) 731-8211.

This service is not for emergencies. For immediate care, call our Emergency Department at (702) 731-8080.

The Physician Information Service is a service mark of Humana Inc. © 1986 Humana Inc.

Humana Hospital - Sunrise
3186 Maryland Parkway
Las Vegas, Nevada 89109

Humana[®]
Bringing the human being in need into the hands of a doctorSM