

Jewish War Veterans Usher In New Year

In honor of the Jewish New Year, 5747, the Charles T. Kandell Post 711 of the Jewish War Veterans hosted a free snack bar at the Veterans Administration Outpatient Clinic, recently. (L-R) Herb Gilbert, Bernice Gilbert, Bob Cooper, Anne Cooper, Fran Goldman, Harriett Donitz, Sylvia Levine, Ray Gold, Sol Cresp & Nester Goldman.

(Photograph by Marvin)

NEW YORK (WNS) — The National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW) has received a $50,000 grant from the Ford Foundation for its research project, "Mothers in the Work-place," to study the rapidly changing needs of families in which mothers work. The project is being conducted by the NCJW Center for the Child, established to improve conditions which promote the growth and development of children through applied research.

Israelite
 For Rates
 CALL
 876-1255

DON HAYHURST
 ASSEMBLY DISTRICT 15

