

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

JERUSALEM (WNS) — An Israel Navy patrol intercepted a band of heavily armed terrorists in two rubber dinghies off the coast of Lebanon, a military spokesman announced. He said the incident occurred three days ago when the boats were spotted off Sidon, on course south to Israel. He said the terrorists were members of an El Fatah faction and carried a large arsenal of weapons, including explosives, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

HAIFA (WNS) — The United States Navy has commissioned Technion-Israel Institute of Technology's Coastal and Marine Engineering Research Institute to study wave patterns in Mediterranean ports. The findings will enable commanders of the Sixth Fleet, currently in the Mediterranean, to plan fleet movements and predetermine ports of anchor in accordance with anticipated wave patterns. During its initial stage, the study will focus on the ports of Haifa and Ashdod. Later, it will be expanded to encompass other ports in the Eastern Mediterranean basin including Crete, Cyprus and Beirut.

WALTHAM, Mass. (WNS) — Rabbi Irving Greenberg, president of the National Jewish Center for Learning and Leadership, has been awarded the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters by Brandeis University at the University's recent Founders' Day convocation. An Orthodox rabbi, a scholar and prominent lecturer, Greenberg was the first fulltime chaplain and Hillel director at Brandeis 1957-58.

BONN (WNS) — The West German Bundestag (Parliament) approved a resolution recently urging the government to start talks with Poland on the establishment of a memorial exhibit by the West German Federal Republic at the former Auschwitz death camp. Several countries, including East Germany, have already set up similar exhibits. The exhibit was originally proposed in the Bundestag by the Green Party in 1985.

BONN (WNS) — The 10th German-Israeli Conference opened in Koenigswinter and was attended by members of the Israeli Knesset. Bundestag President Phillip Jenninger stressed at the Conference that Israel's right to exist was definitive for the Middle East policy of the German Federal Republic. Jenninger appealed to members of both parliaments to persuade the young generation of their respective countries to strengthen and further develop the human, cultural, and economic ties between the two nations. He welcomed the news of a visit by Israel President Chaim Herzog to West Germany in April, 1987.

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Foreign Minister Shimon Peres said that Israel does not plan to upgrade its diplomatic representation in Austria. This apparently means that Israel will not name a replacement for Michael Elizur, the former Ambassador in Vienna, who retired several months ago.

NEW YORK (WNS) — The fourth annual Israel Film Festival is being held in New York at the New Carnegie Theater from Nov. 22 - Dec. 4, and in Los Angeles at the Nuart Theater Dec. 13-21, 1986. The Festival is being presented by IsraFest Foundation, a non-profit corporation. The 15 films to be presented will include Israeli films.
