Dear Michael:

I would like to applaud the Las Vegas Israelite for the moving tribute to David Ben-Gurion in your October 10th issue.

David Ben-Gurion, more than any other man, was responsible for the establishment of the State of Israel. For this reason, the Israeli Knesset last year proclaimed a celebration of David Ben-Gurion's Centennial from October 19, 1986 to May 20, 1987.

To fulfill this mandate and promote recognition of David Ben-Gurion's lifelong devotion to the Jewish people, the David Ben-Gurion Centennial Committee was formed.

Chaired worldwide by Israel's President Chaim Herzog and in the U.S. by Jack J. Spitzer, Honorary President of B'nai B'rith International, the Centennial Committee is working to involve every Jewish organization and community in the celebration of David Ben-Gurion's birth.

Plans for the coming year include a number of civic, governmental and academic events and tributes to David Ben-Gurion. Among them: street namings for Ben-Gurion in New York and other U.S. cities; academic symposiums in major universities throughout the country; and a gala at the Kennedy Center in Washington.

President Reagan has supported this effort from the start, agreeing to serve as honorary chairman of the Committee. A joint Congressional Resolution has been passed recognizing Ben-Gurion's lifetime of accomplishment, and a salute to Israel's founding father was held at The Jewish Museum in New York on October 16.

The year ahead promises even more. Your coverage of David Ben-Gurion's 100th birthday furthers the goals set by the Israeli Parliament last year: to honor and memorialize David Ben-Gurion -- the scholar, the soldier and the seeker of peace.

Sincerely,

Dr. Benjamin Hirsch
