

Synagogue Burning In Rumania Part Of Anti-Semitic Incidents

JERUSALEM (WNS) — A synagogue in the Rumanian town of Bohush in Moldavia was burned to the ground after its janitor was stabbed by unknown assailants. Rumanian Chief Rabbi Moses Rosen reported the incident in a Kol Israel Radio interview. He said the arson occurred a day after a visit to the provincial synagogue by the Hasidic Rebbe of Bohush who lives in Israel, accompanied by several of his followers. The janitor suffered knife wounds on his face and arms.

Rosen said there have been scattered anti-Semitic incidents in Rumania in recent years and anti-Semitic lyrics to a popular song were published recently in a major newspaper. But no synagogue was ever burned down before, Rosen said.

Shamir Says Syria Wants No War In Near Future

TEL AVIV (WANS) — Premier Yitzhak Shamir said that there is no danger of war in the near future and he doesn't think Syria wants a confrontation with Israel. He said on a radio interview that Israel is not worried about threats and bellicose statements emanating from Damascus and would not be drawn into a clash. If Syria attacked Israel, it would pay a heavy price, Shamir said.

Meanwhile, a number of Katyusha rockets were fired at Israel from south Lebanon. One exploded in Galilee causing slight damage but no casualties. The others fell in the security zone north of the border. They were the first Katyushas fired into Israel in two months.

Israel Through Stamps
