Three-Judge Panel In Demjanjuk Trial Rejects Defense Motion To Disqualify Itself Because Of Bias

JERUSALEM (JTA) — The trial of accused war criminal John Demjanjuk began its fifth week after the three-judge panel rejected a defense motion to disqualify itself for bias against the defendant and his lawyers.

The allegation of bias was made by Yoram Sheftel, the Israeli lawyer assisting Demjanjuk's American attorney, Mark O'Connor. Sheftel cited instances of what he claimed were discrimination against the defense, personal attacks on him from the bench and a lack of objectivity.

After a two-hour recess, court president Dov Levin declared there was no basis to Sheftel's charges. He said the bench had not "intervened more than necessary" during the trial and in fact behaved "with more than usual forbearance."

The court also rejected Sheftel's demand that the hearings be suspended while the defense appealed the issue to the Supreme Court. Demjanjuk's attorneys may appeal nevertheless.

Most of the proceedings Monday were devoted to O'Connor's cross-examination of former police investigator Martin Koller, himself a Holocaust survivor who lost his entire family. Koller was questioned closely on the process by which photographs were presented to witnesses to identify the Ukrainian-born Demjanjuk as the sadistic Treblinka death camp guard known as "Ivan the Terrible."

Koller, who immigrated to Israel from Czechoslovakia in 1965, testified that he was employed by U.S. occupation forces in Europe after the war investigating Nazi war crimes.

'The Auction' At Imperial Palace Premier Event Of The Year

"The Auction," to be held at the Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino, promises to be the premier event of the year.

General William Lyon, who recently acquired the remaining vehicles of the world famous Harrah's Collection for $28 million, has agreed to place 19 extremely rare and valuable autos from the Harrah's Collection on the block of "THE AUCTION" at the Imperial Palace.

One of those cars to be auctioned is a 1930 Model J Convertible Victoria Duesenberg. New, it originally sold for $20,000. During its 57-year history, the Duesenberg's value has risen and is expected to go for $1.2 million next weekend. It has an orange side panel and is brown with a beige convertible top. The body is by Graber of Switzerland. This Duesenberg has an eight-cylinder engine which is 285 horsepower.

With Lyons' cars, autos from the renowned Imperial Palace Auto Collection and Blackhawk Classics, the total number of vehicles to be offered at no reserve is now approximately 450.

Autos will be on display in the parking facility of the Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino on Saturday, April 11th from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. when the bidding begins. "THE AUCTION" will continue on Saturday until 7:00 p.m. Bidding will resume on Sunday at 10:00 a.m. and continue throughout the day until 8:30 p.m. Sunday evening.

In addition to the autos going on the auction block, the Imperial Palace Auto Collection has over 200 autos on display daily on the fifth floor of the hotel's parking facility from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.
