

Passover Around The JDC World

In Romania, 5,000 Jews, many of them aged and infirm survivors of the Holocaust, will attend community Sedorim funded with the help of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC). Other members of the community will receive special Passover parcels of kosher food and wine.

In Tunisia, some 350 people in six communities will receive special assistance to buy matzah, matzah meal, wine, meat, and oil for the holiday, thanks to JDC.

These are two ways in which JDC helps bring Passover into Jewish homes, no matter how isolated or poor, around the world.

"May all who are hungry come and eat," reads the Haggadah. JDC, acting on behalf of the American Jewish community, takes this injunction very seriously.

"Wherever there are Jews in need, JDC is at work," say JDC President Heinz Eppler and Executive Vice President Ralph I. Goldman in their Passover message. "As we celebrate this joyous festival, we join in sending greetings to our fellow Jews around the world -- those overseas, whom we help observe the holiday, as well as those at home, who make this help possible with their continued support of the United Jewish Appeal."

In many of the 34 countries in which it operates, JDC helps provide Passover assistance. The Jewish communities of Morocco and Poland receive shipments of matzah, matzah flour, and wine for the holidays.

Elsewhere in Eastern Europe, JDC helps distribute matzah to clients of the Jewish community's social assistance agency in Hungary. In Czechoslovakia, where kosher food and Passover wine are not available, JDC helps purchase the supplies elsewhere and imports them into the country for distribution.

The 180 Jews of Egypt receive supplies of kosher meat and wine, matzah, and matzah meal with the help of JDC. Passover supplies and food baskets are provided for needy Jews in Algeria as well.

In Israel, JDC is faithful to its tradition of helping those on the fringes of society and gives aid to the physically and socially handicapped, the aged, and the very young. In old-age homes, community centers, and other institutions where JDC plays a major role in maintaining a high standard of service, its presence is quietly felt at the Seder table.

The mitzvah is made possible by the American Jewish community's generous support of the United Jewish Appeal, which provides the bulk of the JDC 1987 budget of $57 million.

The Las Vegas Arabian Horse Association will produce its 22nd Annual Purebred and Half Arabian Horse Show on April 11-12-13 of 1987.

This prestigious yearly event will be held at Horseman's Park and will be judged by Mark Kerr and Jim Brown who will also be judging at the U.S. Arabian Nationals in 1987.

Besides the Spectacular Arabian and Half Arabian Horse Show, special guests "The Plantation Tennessee Walking Horses" will compete in a series of judged events.

Also featured will be an IACHA Approved Arabian Cutting Classic. Immediately following the Arabian Cutting Classic, there will be a NCHA Approved Cutting. The judge for these classes will be Phil Webb of Galt, California.

Other special features of the show will include a Stallion Breeding Raffle, with breedings available to WN Ben Samir, One of Wayne Newton's Champion Stallions. The raffle tickets can be purchased at the Show Office during the Show or call 361-5498. A high point trainer's award will be a feature and the first presentation of the prestigious "Aramus Award" in honor of Mr. Wayne Newton.

The public is invited.
