Hussein Tells Israel To Ignore His Remarks At Arab Summit

TEL AVIV (JTA) — King Hussein of Jordan has reportedly signaled Israel not to take seriously hard-line remarks he is making at the Arab summit in Amman this week, the Israeli news media reported. Hussein, in his speech at the opening of the summit, is reported to have exhorted the Arab states for unity against Iran and Israel, both of which he claimed had designs on Arab territory. But according to Hadashot, Hussein sent a message to Foreign Minister Shimon Peres through a middleman recently, pledging to honor the arrangements they agreed to at a meeting in London last April. He stressed that he intends to continue to work to advance negotiations between Jordan and Israel under the auspices of an international conference, Hadashot reported.

Congregation Ner Tamid News

By Art Gellin

We have a Rabbi! Reminiscent of the closing scene in that wonderful film with Gene Wilder "The Frisco Kid" we can say with pride We Have A RABBI! Rabbi Sanford Axelrad and his lovely wife, Joni, come to us from Columbus, Ohio. A man of the West he was born in Palo Alto, Ca. and is the son of a Rabbi. Joni is a native of Reno, Nev. He is the embodiment of a young pioneer who is eager to join and grow with a vital and family oriented family Congregation. His experience as the spiritual leader of a congregation of 1200 families - he brings with him a sense of leadership and involvement in all Temple activities. He will provide Congregation Ner Tamid the direction it seeks and the guidance to help us become a House of G-D which is destined to be the home of the Reform Movement in Las Vegas. He will be the driving force which will make Congregation Ner Tamid synonymous with Reform Judaism in this community. He will join our family early in 1988.

The newspaper said circles close to Peres believe Hussein's signals are in earnest and that the results of the Arab summit will not affect the agreements they reached. The assessment of the Foreign Ministry here is that even if the king makes statements critical of Israeli policy on the peace process and in the administered territories, he does not intend to disavow agreements reached so far on the peace process.

Haaretz reported that Hussein told British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe at a meeting in Amman last week that the Arab summit would not change his stand on the issue of an international conference and would not cause him to renege on his agreements with Peres.

Sources in Jerusalem quoted by Haaretz believe that during the summit, Hussein will be forced to "tow the line" of the Arab consensus and to express support for the Soviet-Syrian idea that the Arab-Israeli dispute should be settled not through direct talks but rather at an international conference with the participation of the five permanent members of the United Nations Security Council.

Haaretz said it is believed Hussein will (Continued on page 9)
