

Hussein Tells Israel To Ignore His Remarks At Arab Summit

pay this price in exchange for passage of a meaningful resolution on the war in the Persian Gulf.

Meanwhile, a senior official at the British Foreign Office reportedly told the Israeli ambassador in London, Yehuda Avner, that Hussein has criticized the Reagan administration for failing to work aggressively enough to prevent a stalemate in the peace process.

Peres stated that "there is definitely a chance for an international conference opening, perhaps more than there was before." He said that from Jordan's point of view, there is no chance of direct negotiations without an opening.

A violent demonstration in the West Bank that greeted the summit opening in Amman, points to sharp divisions between Jordanian Palestinians and die-hard supporters of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Both camps have circulated petitions to be conveyed to the Arab leaders at the summit. According to some sources, the Jordanian petition has already reached Amman. It is said to emphasize the common destiny of both banks of the Jordan River, Jordan's decisive role in a solution of the Palestinian problem and the need for a political federative solution between Jordan and a Palestinian entity.

It declares, however, that the PLO is the legitimate representative of the Palestinian people.

The other petition, signed by scores of PLO supporters and figures identified with the Left in the administered territories, was published in East Jerusalem. Arabic newspapers identified with the PLO.

It calls for the establishment of an independent Palestinian state under PLO leadership and condemns any attempt to deny the PLO's status as the sole representative of the Palestinian people.

The published document furthermore censures the "division of authority" between Israel and Jordan in administration of the territories. It denounces the Jordanian five-year plan to improve living conditions in the territories as a plot to create an alternative leadership to the PLO.
