

The Coming Of The New Age Of The Piano In Ten Tantalizing Colors Available At Music World

The cosmopolitan collection recently introduced by Kimball Piano and Organ Company represents the coming of the new age of the piano for home decorating. For years the "black" or a "wood-tone" piano was the only choice when planning your room.

Now when you envision a living room, music room, or den in the wonderfully bright colors of today, you can incorporate a piano without having to be satisfied with black or wood-tone finishes. The Cosmopolitan features the popular European high-shine finishes in colors such as muted reds, greens, and blues. The clean lines and brass inlay serve to highlight the glossy surface. Each color - there are ten exciting shades - has been carefully selected for fidelity to current styling trends.

Kimball International is the parent company of Kimball Piano & Organ. The corporation is completely quality controlled owning and operating their own forests, mills and manufacturing plants. They produce furniture for both office and home environments.

For over 128 years Kimball Piano & Organ division has devoted its energies to creating fine quality American-made pianos. They expend all of their energies and research to attain the finest sounding instrument possible. In creating this cosmopolitan piano Kimball International has coordinated all their divisions to introduce a piano with the look of "today" and the fine workmanship and sound of an instrument created hundreds of years ago.

The search is over. From the tantalizing array of colors -- ebony, bone, gray, mauve, yellow, white, gun metal, cranberry, green, blue -- decorating a room to include a piano can now be both rewarding and satisfying. Your local Kimball dealer is Music World at Sahara and Eastern.

Passover Aid, Prayers And Other Outreach Planned

NEW YORK (JTA) — Jewish organizations have planned a variety of outreach programs and prayers for other Jews this Passover.

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee is distributing matza and other seder necessities to needy Jewish communities in 70 countries through Operation Passover.

This year, more than 200,000 pounds of Passover matza, some 30,000 pounds of matza meal, wine, jam, gefilte fish and other Passover foods were purchased and shipped to Jews in private homes, community centers and villages from Egypt to Hungary, from India to Portugal and many other Jewish bases.

The American Jewish World Service has launched its second annual Afikoman Pledge, asking American Jews at their seders to "renew the commitment to help all who are hungry around the world, so that next year we may all be free."

AJWS, an international development and disaster relief organization, hopes to double the 150 congregations in 30 states that raised more than $45,000 last year for projects in 18 of the poorest countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America. For more information, call (617) 267-6656.

Manischewitz, the kosher food and wine manufacturer, has joined the American Rabbinic Network for Ethiopian Jewry in a relief campaign for the remaining 15,000 Ethiopian Jews.

More than 3,100 matza boxes, labelled "Mitzvahs Not Matzas, are being distributed to North American synagogues, Jewish community centers and Jewish-owned businesses. The boxes are symbolically void of matza to represent the empty stomachs of Ethiopian Jews but contain information on the Ethiopian Jews and an Afikoman service, which calls for a commitment to rescue the Ethiopian Jews in exchange for the Afikoman. Contact Jane Fellman, (213) 681-4065.

Visually impaired Jews may receive free braille haggadahs. Contact the Jewish Heritage for the Blind, 1655 E. 24th St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11229.

The Society for Humanistic Judaism offers a

Humanist Haggadah and The Passover Manual, which provides traditional stories of the Exodus as well as stories of Jews in modern exodus, a children's haggadah, a Passover Midrash and suggestions for a "meaningful" seder. Write to Society for Humanistic Judaism, 28611 W. Twelve Mile Road, Farmington Hills, MI 48018.

Several prayer inserts have been provided this Passover. The Conference of Presidents of Major Jewish Organizations asked the National Jewish Center for Learning and Leadership to create a new "Dayenu" in honor of Israel's 40th anniversary.

This version, designed by Rabbis Steven Greenberg and David Nelson, contains three sections, recounting Israel's historical, political and military history and focusing on the centrality of redemption. Copies are available through CLAL, 421 7th Ave., New York, N.Y. 10001.

People for the American Way has prepared a prayer celebrating freedom from slavery and calling for continued freedom through recitation of the First Amendment of the Constitution. Contact People for the American Way, 1111 W. 40th St., Suite 2410, New York, N.Y. 10018; (212) 944-5820.

Questions about Passover may be answered by "Operation Pesach," a toll-free hotline run by the Union for Traditional Conservative Judaism. The Kashrut Information Hot-Line will be open March 24 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. at 1-800-843-8825. In New York, call (914) 667-1007.
