Marvin Davis "Moves" N.Y.'s Famous Carnegie Deli To Beverly Hills

'89 under the auspices of businessman Marvin Davis and New York Carnegie's owner Milton Parker.

Construction has commenced on the new Carnegie Deli at the corner of Beverly Drive and Dayton Way, where So. Californians will have the benefit of Hollywood glamour and glitz in a New York deli atmosphere. Beverly Hills' Carnegie Deli will seat 210 hungry patrons in a 7,500 square foot area designed by Pat Kuleto, San Francisco's award-winning restaurant designer who has been commissioned to create the interior in conjunction with the Carnegie's architects, Sherrod Marshall and Associates, Los Angeles.

Arafat To Meet Soon With Italian Foreign Minister

ROME (JTA) — Yasir Arafat will visit Rome in the next few days to meet with Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti, according to diplomatic sources quoted in the Italian news media.

The sources said the Palestine Liberation Organization chief will discuss possible initiatives to resolve the Palestinian situation, in light of the outcome of Israel's parliamentary elections and the American presidential elections Nov. 8.

Andreotti has long played a role in Middle East diplomacy. His expected meeting with Arafat in Tunisia on Oct. 23 did not materialize, because Arafat left suddenly for Aqaba, Jordan, for a meeting with Jordan's King Hussein and President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt.

One major colorful change will be made, replacing an existing exterior wall with large picture windows that will afford patrons and passers-by close up views of the Carnegie operation. This will feature the final processing (in a glass enclosed curing room) of pastramis and corned beef shipped from the Carnegie in New York. In full view teams of chefs will ply their crafts; cooking blintzes, marinating herring, pickling pickles and etc.! An education you want, an education you get — outside! Inside, you get fed.

New York's Carnegie Deli has been a culinary star half a century, nationally recognized when Woody Allen featured the always celebrity-crammed restaurant as the dramatic setting of his motion picture, "Broadway Danny Rose."

The Carnegie will be open seven days a week from six a.m. until midnight, a time schedule designed to handle the sure-to-be ravenous appetites of locals, out-of-towners and expatriate New Yorkers.

Carnegie will reflect the Manhattan eatery's easy ambience, an informal enclave for family, friends and business dining. The dress code is casual with only one requirement for customers — they must arrive famished. To insure nobody leaves the premises in that condition, the Carnegie's legendary superportions of pastrami, corned beef, roast beef, et al will be very much in evidence.

If the actual size of the New York Carnegie's sandwiches have escaped scrutiny be advised that the sandwiches served in Beverly Hills will be served with 10" skewers in order to keep the two slices of bread and contents together! Now THAT'S engineering.

Davis and his New York colleagues in this delectable venture intend to keep the entire operation colorful. The Big Apple's fabled New Year's Eve happening, the dropping of the Times Square "Apple" precisely at midnight, will be satirized. Davis will memorialize Beverly Hills' Carnegie Deli opening, whenever the date occurs, with a countdown lowering of a giant matzoh ball into an equally large bowl of chicken soup.
