Congregants attending the January 13 Friday night service will be honored by the 4th-6th grade participants of Kadima as part of their Shabbat Dinner Program. Contact Jackie Boiman at Temple Beth Sholom for additional details. The phone number is 384-5070.

Join the ORT women on January 20 as they assist with Shabbat services and on January 27, the 5th and 6th graders of the Nate Mack Religious School will hold their Shabbat dinner prior to participating in services.

Another very exciting event is the upcoming annual Torah Fund Program slated for January 18 in the Entratter Social Hall at 7 p.m. The evening is sponsored by the TBS Sisterhood and will include a special Torah Fund meeting, a prominent speaker from the Los Angeles area and a professionally directed play. Admission is free and refreshments will be served. All Torah Fund proceeds raised that evening will benefit Jewish Theological Seminaries in Israel and New York City and the University of Judaism in Los Angeles, each promoting the continuing education of Cantorial and Rabbinical candidates. For additional information, please call Bess Freeman at 871-9289. All members and non-members are welcome.

Looking for new friends to share fun times with? Additional Havurot, groups that meet monthly for Jewish celebration, learning and socializing, have recently been formed thanks to Toby Rosenbush, Sandi Walton and Dee Klein. The groups are now meeting regularly so call TBS for information on how to join.

Attention all 4th-6th graders: definitely save Sunday, January 15 for Kadima's Night at the Movies. Pick-up the phone now and get the details from TBS. Another date to save is Sunday, January 29 when Kadima putts off to the fun-spot Scandia.

United Synagogue Youth has scheduled their meetings at TBS at 7 p.m. every Monday except January 16. All 7th-12th graders should call the Temple for the latest happenings.

A gathering of singles over 45 is being held at TBS beginning at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, January 10.

Each Tuesday morning commencing with January 10 at 11:30 is reserved for Beth Sholom Seniors when they meet to socialize, discuss upcoming activities, enjoy a special program and have a bagel and coffee brunch. Also, Bingo, card playing and a chance to make new friends are offered. Come join them.

The Beth Sholom Men's Club is congregating Wednesday, January 11 off premises. Be sure to call TBS for the specific time and location. Your assistance is needed as the group will be finalizing details for their February 5th Cantorial Concert in the main sanctuary of TBS at 7:30 p.m. President Herb Kaufman believes this will be a most memorable and melodic evening of Jewish fun and togetherness you wouldn't want to miss. Three guest cantors from Los Angeles have been invited to join Cantor Bergman in a concert of classical, Yiddish, Cantorial and Hassidic music for your listening enjoyment. Remember and reserve February 5 and watch for future details.

Everyone should mark their calendars for the first of the Jewish Community Lecture Series on Sunday, January 29 at 7:30 p.m. at Congregation Ner Tamid, this year's host facility. Members of all Las Vegas Congregations as well as the general public will be in attendance and should prove to be a fascinating and most interesting program. John Rothmann, a political and foreign policy consultant specializing in Middle East and Soviet Affairs, will be the guest lecturer. For more information, call 735-2300.

Now that Chanukah is over, it is time to come to the TBS Gift Shop for special savings on kitchen items including cookbooks, aprons, oven mittens and so much more. They have unique gifts you won't find elsewhere. The shop is open Sunday mornings between 9 and 12, Mondays-Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and also by appointment when you call Geri at 384-5704.

The staff at Temple Beth Sholom awaits your call regarding any program listed.
