

Temple Beth Sholom Religious School News

By Toby Rosenbush, Administrator

The month of December brings the festive Chanukah holiday with its special warmth and glow. Our children will celebrate the occasion with a special Chanukah program on Sunday, December 10th at 10:30 a.m. in the main Sanctuary. Each class will present their interpretation of the Chanukah theme. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Tzedakah and Mitzvot are an integral part of our Jewish way of life. During this holiday season, as we rejoice and celebrate, it is important for us to remember those who are less fortunate. Once again, the Nate Mack Religious School will sponsor a canned good drive as our Chanukah mitzvah project. We ask students to bring a can or package of fruit, vegetables, tuna, dry cereal (not sugar based), soup (kosher) or noodles. These items will be given to the Jewish Family Service Agency for distribution to the needy. We're very proud of our students who have participated in this most worthy project in the past.

On Tuesday, December 12th at 5:00 p.m. our school will have a wonderful Chanukah Latka party for the children with grateful appreciation to our Sisterhood and some of our kind parents who "pitched in" with making the Latkes. Parents of kindergarten and first grade children are warmly invited to bring their children to the Chanukah party and join the rest of the school for a great holiday time.

We are pleased to announce the winners of our essay contest on "What Torah Means To Me". They are AUTUMN CHANDLER, MATTHEW TURK, JAMES GREENSPUN, JESSE FUNK and HAIM MIZRACHI. Mazel Tov to you all for doing such fine work!

Parents please note: Report cards will be sent home on Sunday, December 3rd. Please read, sign and return them by December 10th. Winter Recess begins on Wednesday, December 13th. Regular classes resume on Tuesday, January 2nd.

On behalf of our teaching faculty and myself, we wish you all a joyous Chanukah.

To the editor:

In connection with my research into the career and works of Leo Zeitlin (1884-1930), the violist and St. Petersburg composer, I would very much like to hear from members of his family or anyone who knew him.

I am also looking for copies of Zeitlin's compositions (either printed or in manuscript) and information about a concert given in his memory November 1932 at the Community Center Conservatory of Congregation B'nai Jeshurun in New York.

If you know of a Soviet Jewish Cemetery in need of repair, we can help arrange official cooperation.

If you know of a specific Jewish cemetery in the Soviet Union in need of repair and maintenance and have the ability to sponsor the project financially, but do not know where to turn for arranging the necessary official permits, contact the Joint Committee for the Preservation of Jewish Heritage in the Soviet Union.

The Joint Committee for the Preservation of Jewish Heritage in the Soviet Union is a group of concerned individuals and organizations, which has arranged official Soviet permission for improving cemeteries reported to be in a state of neglect and disrepair.

After verifying each case, the committee aided interested sponsoring groups by arranging for the cooperation of the Soviet authorities in the upgrading and maintenance of neglected Jewish cemeteries. Among the burial sites being repaired with the cooperation of government officials are those of some of eastern Europe's most famous rabbis, including that of the Chafetz Chaim.

The Joint Committee for the Preservation of Jewish Heritage in the Soviet Union is a non-profit organization and provides its services at no charge.
