TRADE ON SET LINES.

Savages Have Regularly Organized Expeditions.

The Motuans, a New Guinea tribe inhabiting the villages near Port Moresby, Australia, have an interesting method of embarking on wholesale trading expeditions quite distinct from the ordinary retail bartering of their everyday life. The Motuans are skillful potters and their earthenware receptacles are highly prized by natives not so far advanced in industrial enterprise. On the other hand, the Motuans cannot grow enough food for their own needs, and on this basis a regular custom has sprung up which varies little from year to year. Every season at the end of the southeast monsoon a "lakatol," as it is called, consisting usually of five canoes manned by forty or fifty natives, leaves the Port Moresby district laden with pots, tola (arm shells), toa (boars' tusks) and other highly prized native commodities. Arrived at a village, these articles are displayed to the intending purchasers.

Everything is carefully examined, and if all is thus far satisfactory a villager chosen by the tribe goes away into the brush and returns with measurements in circumference of certain ilimo trees, which are required for making the big canoes (asi), of which the lakatol is to be finally constructed when enlarged for carrying the heavy cargo of sago or the homeward journey. As soon as the bargains are concluded (on a recognized schedule of barter—one uru (pot) for one bag of sago, one tola for one bag and a pig, etc.), the villagers fell the trees which the visitors have agreed to buy, and the Motuans hollow them out and finish them off. Meanwhile the villagers set to work on the covering receptacles for the sago.—New York Herald.

Their Bargain.

Mrs. Gunbusta came rushing into the room breathlessly.

Throwing her fur auto coat carelessly on a divan and laying her grim goggles on the Aeolian, she gasped:
 "Oh, Fred, I bought a handsome machine this morning for only $375."
 "Bully for you!" shouted Gunbusta, joyously, laying down the Motor Magazine he had been busily engaged in reading when his wife entered.

"But," she stammered, "in my anxiety to hurry home in it and tell you of my wonderful bargain I was horribly arrested several times for exceeding the speed limit and it cost me $300 for fines and—"

"Never mind that, dearest; it's cheap even at those figures."
 "And then I had to pay $20 to merchants for goods of theirs that I ran into and ruined, and—"

"What of it?" interrupted Gunbusta. "Eight hundred and seventy-five dollars is cheap for a good machine."
 "And—er—I gave $500 to people I had run down and who threatened law suits, and all because I was desirous of hurrying home to tell you of my wonderful bargain—"

But before Mrs. Gunbusta had completed the sentence her husband rushed into the backyard and tried to run over himself with his automobile.

Major Rejoice Newton's Memory.

Major Rejoice Newton was one of the characters of the Worcester bar some years ago. One Fourth of July, when he was quite an old man, he met two brother members of the bar, who took him into the rooms of the Worcester light infantry. His son, who died some years before, was long an officer of the company, and the old man was cordially welcomed and hospitably treated.

Next day the captain of the infantry company met one of the lawyers who had introduced Major Newton, and said to him: "That was a very remarkable old man you brought in yesterday to our rooms. He stayed there all the forenoon, drinking punch and telling stories. He remembered General Washington distinctly. He went home to dinner, came back in the afternoon, drank more punch, and remembered Christopher Columbus."

Bird Travel Falling Off.

"A heavy falling off in bird travel is noticeable of late," said Mrs. Louise Schull, Union depot matron, this morning. "I am trying to reason out the cause of it."

"Bird travel?" asked the one addressed. "Birds migrate by wing and not on railroad tickets. What do you mean?"

"The birds did not pay fare, but they traveled by rail extensively, just the same," the matron replied. "At one time nearly every woman that boarded or disembarked from a railway train carried in addition to three grips two or three cages of parrots or canaries. No woman seemed to think of traveling without a bird cage or two. Now a bird cage is seldom seen. Good sense, probably, has banished the birds to the care of the housekeeper or to the boarding aviary while their mistress travels."—Kansas City Star.

The Truth Above All.

Lecoq the detective was thinking about getting married.

"At any rate, women are truthful," he said solemnly. "I had that fact impressed on me last week."

"A woman's husband had disappeared, a young millionaire, and I was called in to try and find him."

"He had been missing three days when I arrived. Of course, the first thing I questioned his wife."

"She was young and pretty. The first question I asked her was: 'What were the last words he said to you before he disappeared?'"

"She turned a deep red as she answered truthfully:

"His very last words were: 'Oh for heaven's sake, what...'"

Doan's Kidney Pills helped me right away when I began with them, and three boxes cured me permanently."

A FEW CUTTING REMARKS

The purpose of a saw is to cut. It should cut easily, cut cleanly, and cut with every movement.

I prefer an Atkins Saw. Its blade is "Silver Steel," recognized the world over as the finest crucible steel ever made in ancient or modern times. It is hard, close-grained and tough. It holds a sharp cutting edge longer than any other saw. Its blade tapers perfectly from thick to thin, from handle to tip. Thus it makes leeway for itself, runs easily and does not buckle. Its temper is perfect. When bent by a crooked thrust, it springs into shape without kinking. The Atkins saw cuts—and does it best of any. We make all types and sizes of saws, but only one grade—the best.

Atkins Saws, Corn Knives, Perfection Floor Scrapers, etc., are sold by all good hardware dealers. Catalogue on request.

AS YOU GO ALONG.

Good Things to Remember if You Would Be Popular.

Be helpful, be sociable, be unselfish, be generous, be a good listener, never worry or whine, study the art of pleasing, be frank, open and truthful, always be ready to lend a hand, be kind and polite to everybody, be self-confident, but not conceited, never monopolize the conversation, take a genuine interest in other people, always look on the bright side of things, take pains to remember names and faces, never criticize or say unkind things of others, look for the good in others, not for their faults, cultivate health and thus radiate strength and courage, forgive and forget injuries, but never forget benefits, rejoice as genuinely in another's success as in your own, always be considerate of the rights and feelings of others, have a good time, but never let fun degenerate into license, learn to control yourself under the most trying circumstances, have a kind word and a cheery, encouraging smile for everyone, be respectful to women and chivalrous in your attitude toward them, meet trouble like a man and cheerfully endure what you can't cure, believe in the brotherhood of man, and recognize no class distinctions.—Chicago.

Letter by Thomas Hood.

A letter written by the poet Thomas Hood to "My very dear Marianne" changed hands at a public sale in London the other day for the consideration of $9.50. The letter has the following quaint conclusion: "There is a tale of a little prince who had a ruby heart, and whatever he wished on it was instantly granted, but it is not so with mine. Neither have I Aladdin's lamp, or it should have been scrubbed bright ere the Chelmsford ball, but now it is a dark lantern and the glory of Fairyland is bedimmed forever. Only the fiery dragons remain, which are many and fearful, and the black cats and the demons and imps and the ogres, who are the booksellers, except that they have no eyes in their foreheads."

Fish's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'BRIEN, 223 Third Ave. N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1906.

ODD WAGER IS EASILY WON.

Flesh and Blood Leg No Match in Endurance With Cork One.

It was in the commercial room and the conversation had turned on the topic of the powers of endurance shown by men of the past and present. During a lull in the conversation a young commercial man said:

"Any man, if he has the will power, can endure pain or fatigue; I know I can." Silence for a moment, and an "old man of the road" replied: "I'll bet you a dinner you can't hold your foot—boots on—in a bucket of hot water as long as I can."

The bet was taken and two buckets of hot water were brought in and a kettle of boiling water to raise the temperature to the point of endurance. In went a foot of each bettor. The young man's face began to pale, but the other called for more boiling water. "What the deuce is your leg made of, sir?" yelled the former, suddenly taking his foot from the bucket.

"Cork, sir—cork," was the cool answer, and the other gentleman felt that he had, indeed, lost.—Chicago Chronicle.

If You Pay Your Bills, You May.

Never bother a grocery man when he is counting eggs, says the Aitchison Globe, because, adds the Boston Globe, "he may give you one too many." Are we to infer that upon all other occasions you are at liberty to bother him? That's what a good many customers seem to think.—New England Grocer.

PAINFUL PERIODS
AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street, East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, "izziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.
