THIN BLOOD—WEAK NERVES

ellows the Other, but Dr. Wil-liams' Pink Pills Quickly Gure Both.

The steady use of a particular set of es tends to chronic fatigue, which duces faulty or difficult motion. rembling, cramps and even paralysis Writers, telegraphers, tailors and seam-stresses are among the classes most med in this way with the loss of heir power to earn a living. The folg instance shows that nerve power be recovered after it seems entirely any be recovered after it taken. Mrs. O. S. Blacksten, of No. 584 North Bowman street, Mausfield, Ohio, says:

"For years my hands would become so numb at times that I would drop anything I attempted to lift. Later they became so bad that I could not sew any longer, and at last I could scarcely do anything at all with my bands. At night the pricking sensations would e on worse than ever, and my hands and arms would pain so that I dreaded to go to bed. My family doctor gave me some nerve tablets. They helped me a ittle, but only for a short time after I had taken them and if I happened to be without them for a day or two I would be as bad as ever or even worse. Finally I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to take them.

"The result was surprising. By the time I had taken the last pill in my first box I could see a gain. Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am now all right. I can sleep undisturbed by pain, and for two years I have been as well as ever.'

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills feed the nerves by making new, rich blood and in this way have cured pervous diseases of every description from simple restlessness to paralysis. They have banished the tortures of neuralgia, the weakness of nervous prostration, the disability and awful pain of locomotor ataxis. They are sold by all druggists or direct by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

"There is no public demand and there is not the slightest public necessity for a law compelling the publication of the formula of proprietary medicines," says the Committee on Legislation of the Proprietary Association. "Every Health Commissioner and every Pure Food Commissioner in the country, as well as every private physician or chemist, if he pleases, has the right to make an analysis of any proprietary medicine and to publish the result and to tell the public what he thinks, and there is nothing in the world to prevent such action. But that is not what the agitators for such legislation want. Their object is to destroy the sale of such remedies entirely."

MACHINERY.

The Machine which skims the oream from milk does not lose a drop while the old skimming process was crude and wasteful. Washing machines, which will relieve woman of the drudgery of cleaning clothes have not proved an encouraging success up to date, but when it comes to manufacturing exclusively by machinery without the touch of human hands, there is nothing more interesting than the history of Pillsbury's Vitos-the best breakfast food in the market to-day.

The white heart of the wheat kernel is cut out by steel rolls, conveyed to sterilizers, and, then packed in twopound, air-tight packages (this is the whole story), all by polished steel appliances, no handling, no cooking, no coloring, no adulteration, just the white heart of the wheat berry sterilized, nothing added, nothing taken away.

KOREA MADE WEALTHY BY WAR.

Millions of Money Circulated in the Hermit Nation.

Korea has filled its pocketbook with the fruit of the war. Ever since the naval actions of last February at Port Arthur and Chemulpo there has been a remarkable feeling of security in the hermit nation, and the principal highway being open, exceptional inducements to trade forced results which could not have been hoped for during peace. The Japanese and Russian forces created an easy market for the excellent crops of cereals without the trouble and expense of foreign transportation. Native labor was employed on a large scale in connection with the movement of troops and railroad construction, so that many millions of yen were distributed among the people and never before has the average Korean had so much to spend or spent it with such freedom. Cost of living, however, has also increased for both native and foreign population from 50 to 100 per

But if they are so unfortunate as to dislike a commercial life their lot is apt to be wretched. There is no lack of opportunity outside of business for the sons of millionaires. So they are practically helpless and drift about aimlessly in a quest for the pleasure that constantly | the common army. eludes them. Such overt tragedies as that of William R. Travers are rare. Men's Struggles Underestimated by Women, Says a Writer.

The average woman seldom hears anything about the appalling cannibalism of the struggle for life and money. From the cradle to the grave she is much in the position of a man who has a fixed and certain income over and beyond that he acquires by his own efforts. The actual battle for supremacy never comes directly home to her. Women are prone to underestimate the terrors of this homicidal strife. They look upon a man in business as a being who achieves large profits from small exertions and entirely escapes Ultimately the intention is to the dull, plodding routine of housemaintain a mere alliance between the keeping and children rearing that they average man, whether he be a bank president or a day laborer, spends nine-tenths of his time performing drudgery of the most depressing sort. It is a rare moment when he is not compelled to do something that he doesn't want to do. It is a moment rarer still when he does not find himself in conflict with the aims or ambitions of some other man.-Baltimore Herald.

The Reporter as a Soldier.

An item in a Kansas City paper tells of the death of a reporter in Wichita through injuries contracted in the performance of his reportorial duties. The reporter was sent out at a late hour of the night to "cover" a suicide and fell over a pile of bricks in a dark alley, injuring himself internally and dying from the effects of the fall a few days later. This man died at his post of duty as truly as the fireman or policeman who loses his life in any great catastrophe that brings his duties into play. And the death of this young man ought to impress upon the newspaper reading world the sacrifice and often the heroism that the news gatherers on the daily papers are capable The reporter is a soldier who never disobeys a call to duty, even though it is to face death in a battle or enter a burning building or a night run on a locomotive or to enter a den of thieves in order to give his paper and its readers the "news."-Denver

As Humorist Sees Rockefeller.

Mr. Gillilan, the president of the Newspaper Jokers' club, that visited John D. Rockefeller at Cleveland the other day, gives an entertaining account of the visit, which concludes as follows: "Others may know Rockefeller as a monster; others may know him as the richest man in the world; others may know him as a caricature and the butt of the jests of us who were that day his happy guests. But we who were there know him as a pleasant, young-old gentleman with a pleasing voice of gentle, benevolent intonation, with unbounded courtesy, with a boy's enthusiasm and enough energy to carry him through many more phenomenally eventful and successful years."

Paris Fetes American Bootblack. Young Fred Racik, the peripatetic bootblack from California, is now going around the Paris newspaper offices. His nickname, "the Frisco Kid," has been adopted in French as "Le Gosse de San Francisco." is also called the "globe-trotting bootblack." in some of the French papers which print columns about his adventures and aims. He was very much disappointed to hear on arriving at the Gare St. Lazare by the so-called trans-Atlantic train from Havre that President Loubet, whose boots he wants to polish, was not at the Elysee, but in his southern chateau of La Begude-de-Mazene.

VANITY WENT WITH GREATNESS, Peculiarities of Famous Men In Self-

In telling of the various means of self-advertisement adopted by certain authors, a critic says that Alexander Dumas, the elder, delighted to appear in the uniform of the national guard of France, with medals pinned to his breast, though it is doubtful whether his motive was anything deeper than a vain, childish delight in gauds. "He was the sort of man," one of his enemies once remarked, "who was capable of riding behind his own carriage in order to prove that he kept a negro in his service." A certain literary person once appeared in the stalls of a London theater wearing a jeweled brooch in his long hair; but he was anticipated in this respect by Theophile Gautler, whose many-colored waistcoat was always the most conspicuous object in any theater which he entered, and even by Disraeli, with his rings outside his gloves, and his green trousers. It is said that M. Paul Bourget also wore green trousers when he was a denizen of the Latin quarter; but that was in the days of poverty and early struggles, and perhapse he had no others.
