

EX-MAYOR CRUMBO RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"My Endorsement of Pe-ru-na is Based on Its Merits."
—Ed. Crumbo.

E.D. CRUMBO, Ex-Mayor of New Albany, Ind., writes from 511 E. Oak street:

"My endorsement of Peruna is based on its merits.

"If a man is sick he looks anxiously for something which will cure him, and Peruna will do the work.

"I know that it will cure catarrh of the head or stomach, indigestion, headache and any weary or sick feeling.

"It is bound to help anyone, if used according to directions.

"I also know dozens of men who speak in the highest terms of Peruna and have yet to hear of anyone being disappointed in it."

Mr. Crumbo, in a later letter, dated Aug. 25, 1904, says:

"My health is good, at present, but if I should have to take any more medicine I will fall back on Peruna."

FAMILIES A GENERATION AGO.

Seemed to Think More of Real Essentials to Happiness.

It isn't often that a mother goes back to the threshold of her own married life for the benefit of her own children. When she does she may tell them that "When I married your father he made $12 a week and he did not have any nest egg in the bank. He had been taking care of his mother and sister and the marriage of your aunt made our union possible. We had hardly a stick of furniture at the start, and it almost seemed as though you three older children were babies all together."

But somehow these little families of a generation or so ago managed, for they loved each other. They worked and they did not have the foolish ideas about keeping up appearances that play such an important part and work such havoc in homes to-day.

If the mother is the kind that is not ashamed of the simplicity and perhaps poverty of her early beginnings as a matron, she will endeavor to impress ideas of economy and truth upon her girls and also the paramount one that money is not essential to happiness but that the love of a good man and a quiet place called home are.—Chicago Journal.

Disraeli's Picturesque Metaphor.

Few men had a richer talent for vivid picturesque metaphor than Disraeli. Often, no doubt, it was bizarre, and sometimes even tawdry, but it seldom descended to the cheap. And what could be more vivid than the figure by which he pictured one of the Gladstonian Ministries: "The Ministers remind me of one of those marine landscapes not very unusual on the coast of South America. You behold a range of exhausted volcanoes. Not a flame flickers on a single pallid crest. But the situation is still dangerous. There are occasional earthquakes, and ever and anon the dark rumbling of the sea."

Ammonia For Mosquito Bites.

In hot climates, where mosquitoes abound, it is usual to carry a tiny bottle of ammonia in the pocket, which is fitted with a little glass point on the stopper, and, as soon as the enemy has worked his wicked will, the bottle is produced and a drop of the liquid is applied to the spot. The same beneficial effect is found from treating the stings of midges with ammonia, and it is useful to know of a harmless and effectual remedy for their aggravating attentions, which often cause serious blood poisoning.

Potatoes and Leprosy.

It took three centuries to dissipate the impression that potatoes, which were first brought to Europe in the fifteenth century, are responsible for the perpetuation of leprosy.

SHYEST PEOPLE EVER KNOWN.

Kubus of Sumatra Never Talk With a Stranger.

There is a very singular race of people in Sumatra, the Kubus, who are too timorous and shy to mix with the other races of the island, and dwell in the recesses of the forests.

They are looked on as inferiors by the Malays, and thought to be little better than beasts. Such is their shyness that they will never willingly face a stranger.

Their trade with the Malays is consequently carried on in a strange manner. The trader announces his arrival by beating a gong, and he then retreats. The Kubus approach, put their forest treasures on the ground, beat a gong, and retreat.

The trader returns, and lays his commodities down in quantities sufficient, as he thinks, for the purchase of the goods on sale. Then he retreats, and the Kubus reappear and consider the bargain.

And so, after more withdrawals and approaches and gong-beatings, the respective parties come to an understanding, and carry off independently their bargains.

The Kubus live on snakes, grubs, fruits and the flesh of any deer or pigs they can slay. They are skillful spear-men, and throw stones with marvelous accuracy.—Stray Stories.

Made Rope in Christ's Time.

Although the name of the first rope maker and that of the land in which he practiced his art have both been lost to history, Egyptian sculptures prove that the art was practiced at least 2,000 years before the time of Christ.

NORTHWEST NOTES

The city election at Missoula, Mont., resulted in a partial victory for the municipal ownership league.

A postoffice has been established at Aurora, Esmeralda county, Nevada, six miles southeast of Fletcher.

The quarantine established against sheep of various states by Wyoming was lifted last week. Sheep entering that state must be dipped but other restriction are removed.

Complete returns of the Tacoma city election show that George P. Wright, Democrat, was re-elected mayor over McCormick, republican, by 295 plurality, and over Hartman, municipal ownership, by 1,664.

Maurice Thompson of Butte, defeated "Kid" Parker of Denver, in the 16th round before the Spokane Amateur Athletic club. A hard blow back of the ear knocked the kid completely out. It was a bloody exhibition.

In the city election at Helena the republicans elected the mayor, police judge and six aldermen. The democrats elected the treasurer and one alderman. The next council will stand nine republicans and five democrats.

Detective Bob Briley shot and killed Edward Donnelley, who was burglarizing the Parisian Cloak and Suit house in Spokane. A woman in a neighboring building discovered the burglar at work and telephoned the police.

Nearly 350 of the 450 painters and paper-hangers in Denver have gone on strike for increased wages. Should the strike continue long it is expected that the entire building trades council's membership of 5,000 men will become involved.

Thomas Logan, sheriff of Nye county, Nevada, was shot and killed at Manhattan by a gambler known as "Blondy" Berry. Logan attempted to prevent a pistol duel between Berry and another gambler, and received the shots which killed him.

Charles G. May, former president of the Big Bend National bank at Davenport, Wash., has been sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary for violation of the banking laws. This is the minimum sentence. May wrecked the bank in mining speculation.

The business part of the town of Bannock, one of Montana's first mining camps and the first capital of the territory in Beaverhead county, has been practically wiped out by fire. The fire is believed to have been incendiary. The total loss is about $10,000.

The estimated value of the oat crop of Idaho for 1905, is given as $1,622,664. A total of 4,069,420 bushels were raised on 98,058 acres, an average per acre of 49.4 bushels, and the average market price per bushel was 42 cents.

Considerable excitement has been caused by the announcement of Stephen Carver, a banker of Chinook, Mont., that he is desirous of building a railroad from Lewiston through Clarkston to Asotin and then to Anetone county, a distance of 32 miles.

Duncan Clark, for years holder of the title of champion steer roping of the world, was accidentally killed near Cheyenne, while hunting with two friends. The three were crawling along the ground toward a herd of antelope when a gun carried by the man immediately behind Clark was discharged. The charge entered Clark's body, causing instant death.

Charles Secrist, the policeman who shot Thomas Johnson in a dispute over a dice game in a saloon in Denver on February 9 last, and who was convicted of murder in the second degree, has been sentenced to serve from fourteen to twenty years in the state penitentiary.

Brakeman C. W. Hildebrand and Fireman John Davis were killed by the overturning of a freight locomotive on the Burlington railroad near Arvada, Wyoming. Davis was alive for several hours under the wreckage. The accident was caused by a cave-in of the track.

It is believed by Portland detectives that Fred Paul, the burglar who on Monday night shot and seriously wounded George Douglass in the latter's home in San Jose, is a former soldier, at Vancouver barracks, who deserted and to whom was traced a number of crimes.

The collieries at Casper, Wyo., are closing down and the miners are leaving to seek work in other fields. All efforts to settle the differences have proven futile. The trouble arose over the organization of a union and demands which the company decided it could not accede to.

Charles Souter of Lander, Wyo., lost 3,000 sheep by a flood of water which came down through his lambing sheds carrying away 1,500 ewes and the same number of lambs. Mr. Souter has for years carried on his lambing operations in March in these sheds, and until now has had good luck.

The yield from 66,153 acres of barley sown in Idaho during the past year was 2,546,120 bushels or an average per acre of 40 bushels. The average market price per bushel for the year, 48 cents, made the entire crop worth $1,270,178.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increases in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

The following letters cannot fail to bring hope to despairing women.

Miss Ruby Mushrush, of East Chicago, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a great sufferer with irregular periods and female trouble, and about three months ago the doctor, after using the X-Ray on me, said I had an abscess and would have to have an operation. My mother wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and it not only saved me from an operation but made me entirely well."

Mrs. Alice Berryhill, of 813 Boyce Street, Chattanooga, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Three years ago I looked dark to me. I had ulceration and inflammation of the female organs and was in a serious condition. My health was completely broken down and the doctor told me that if I was not operated upon I would die within six months. I told him I would have no operation but would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He tried to influence me against it but I sent for the medicine that same day and began to use it faithfully. Within five days I felt relief but was not entirely cured until I used it for some time.

"Your medicine is certainly fine. I have induced several friends and neighbors to take it and I know more than a dozen who had female troubles and who to-day are as well and strong as I am from using your Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.
