JOURNALISM VS. HAIR

Comment by the "Red-Headed Galoot"

The Age desires to state that its subscribers need not look for it to reply in kind to such personal screeds as appeared in the last issue of the Calliente Express and Las Vegas Times.

As the only paper any part of which is printed in Las Vegas, the Age will fight unceasingly for the business advantages that should accrue to the home paper, and will defend itself against any attacks that may tend to interfere with its business interests.

In order to further ease the minds of Age readers, the editor desires to state that after several years' close personal contact with his hair, he has succeeded in subduing it to such an extent that he can prevent it from interfering in any way with his professional duties.

In so far as the article referred to reflects on Las Vegas it is slanderous utterances are about as potent as its reference to The Age editor's psi hair.

MOVES STORE

W. E. Hawkins is today moving his dry goods and furnishing store, building an all, from First street to the property adjoining Fred L. Fallas' store on Fremont street, which he purchased for the purpose some time ago.

Through fair prices and square dealing Mr. Hawkins has succeeded in building up a prosperous business—one of the best in town—regardless of location; but the new location will eventually be more advantageous, as it is near the postoffice and bank, and other buildings going up in the vicinity will soon make it the business center.

DEAD, UNKNOWN

Under a mesquite tree below Las Vegas Ranch an unknown man was found dead Wednesday afternoon. A handkerchief had been hung in the tree, as though the man had contemplated death and hoisted this signal to attract attention to his corpse.

The man was found laid out perfectly straight, a position unusual in a corpse that has had no attention. However, Justice of the Peace Ralph, in his wisdom, decided that the circumstances were not sufficiently suspicious to warrant an inquest.

The question arises: What sort of a death must a man meet before the Justice-Coroner's ideas of his duty to humanity will prompt him to investigate?

It is stated this (Saturday) morning that public indignation has aroused the Justice to the point of deciding that it might be wise to hold an inquest, and it will probably take place today.

LOCAL NOTES

One of the happiest events of the new year so far is the suspension of that thirst resort with the trip-hammer piano and the fog-horn vocalist.

The old hospital and other tents were moved this week from the depot ground opposite Main street to the other side of the tracks, greatly improving the appearance of that section of town.

The S. J. Smith Machinery Co., of Los Angeles, has renewed its advertising contract with The Age. Persons contemplating the purchase of mining or other machinery will do well to consult this firm.

Pioche Record says that "the delinquent tax payers at Las Vegas are slow about digging up." We presume that delinquent tax payers in other portions of the county "dag up" too quick.

T. A. Brown, of the Brown-Gosney Co., of Searchlight and Manvel, and a large stockholder in Las Vegas Mercantile and Las Vegas Trading companies, came in Tuesday morning and remained until Wednesday.

J. F. Collins, Undertaker and Embalmer, Parlors corner Main and Ogden streets.

VEGAS BREVITIES

Something new. Try our Potato Chips. Just in. Johnson & Ward.

J. F. Collins, Undertaker and Embalmer, Parlors corner Main and Ogden streets.

J. O. McIntosh occupies his advertising space this week with a card to retail liquor dealers.

Mrs. Charles C. Cornhill left last Saturday for a few weeks' visit in Corona, California.

Our Kansas Butter ahead of them all, Johnson & Ward.

Quite a force is at work on the Hotel Nevada this week putting in the lavatories, bath tubs and other interior fixtures.

A wireless electric system is the latest in Las Vegas. If you don't believe it, read the Advance, then look at the poles.

Cauliflower, Celery and Fish at Johnson & Ward's.

J. R. Hunter, the wholesale liquor dealer, is able to attend to his business again after being indisposed for some two or three weeks.

It is reported that Geo. Lattimer, J. S. Wisner and others have developed a promising ledge on one of their claims in the Laredo district.

J. H. Ladd has purchased a quantity of alfalfa seed with which he will experiment on his ranch east of town during the coming season.

E. G. Greening, of Las Vegas Mercantile Co., came in from Los Angeles Tuesday, and on Wednesday accompanied Dr. J. K. W. Bracken on a trip to the Muddy.

The Superior Bakery, on First street, is now serving appetizing lunches, making a specialty of fine coffee, and using only home-made products—bread, pastry, etc. Try one.

Martin Hamilton, the popular hotel bartender at the Arizona Club, returned to Las Vegas Thursday, after a month's visit in San Francisco, Santa Barbara and other California cities.

L. J. Clark, former road supervisor, has returned to Las Vegas after several months absence, during which time he has driven through California to the State of Washington and back. He will locate here for a time, at least.

Notwithstanding the fact that the interior of J. F. Miller's Nevada Hotel is only partially finished, he has quite a roll of guests, as many people have actually insisted on securing quarters there regardless of existing conditions.

The local postoffice is now comfortably located in its new quarters in the Bank block. The greatly improved service resulting from the lock boxes is a source of much satisfaction to patrons.

The cement block works at the corner of Fremont and Second streets is in operation again after several days suspension. New buildings recently contracted for have caused a demand for more blocks.

Mrs. J. Coffey, who was called to Las Vegas recently on account of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Helen J. Stewart, returned to her home in San Francisco Monday. Mrs. Stewart is improving steadily and her many friends hope that she will very soon be enjoying good health again.

Mr. J. F. Miller, owner and proprietor of Hotel Nevada, wishes to say to the people of Las Vegas that the dining room is now regularly opened, and that he has placed Mrs. Mason, late of Hotel Las Vegas, in charge. This lady has had wide experience in this department, and will give her exclusive attention to service, and will cater to the wishes of the guests of this new and elegantly furnished hotel.

The Age would ask all its readers who can procure a copy, to read the article in last week's Las Vegas Times entitled "Another Letter," whose real author is disguised by the "communication" dodge. It speaks volumes as to the calibre of the Times and the Calliente Express, and denotes in no uncertain manner the proprietor's regard for Las Vegas.

Quite a large proportion of the tent buildings situated on block 16 and occupied for saloon purposes during the summer months, have been either moved to other parts of town or taken down to give way to more substantial improvements. The removal of several of the firms doing business formerly in block 16 to Buol's addition and the closing out of others has greatly reduced the number of saloons.

Col. S. A. Orchard, of Omaha, Nebraska, arrived in Las Vegas last Tuesday on a visit to his niece, Mrs. N. A. Kuhn, and family. Col. Orchard is the head of the firm of Orchard & Wilhelm, of Omaha, the largest furniture dealers in that city. He was one of the earliest settlers of Omaha, where he has resided for 50 years. He was Provost Marshal of Nebraska during the Civil War and has long been identified as being one of the most prominent and influential Republicans of the State.

Call at The Age office for all sorts of mining blanks—location notices, certificates, etc.

"Mellow light from 500 incandescent bulbs now illuminates Las Vegas after sundown" is the startling headline in a paper known as Las Vegas Advance, which was printed in Salt Lake sometime the first part of the week and distributed in Las Vegas yesterday. The editor of The Age rushed out immediately after sundown last night in a wild effort to catch some of these bulbs in the act of doing the "mellow light" stunt, but up to an early hour this (Saturday) morning had not succeeded in getting hold of the right brand. The Age is outclassed; the rotund editor of the "Advance" has discovered the secret of mixing the "Times" favorite dope, which imparts powers of observation far beyond the ken of ordinary mortals.
