Cheap Living in Norway.

"It is a good scheme," said a rich man, "to spend the summer in Norway. The Norwegian climate is superb, the scenery is grand and the living is cheap—a dollar a day at the hotels and carriages at a half dollar a day. One fine thing about Norway is that in the summer the night only lasts a couple of hours, and if you go as far as the North cape there is no night at all, but the sun circles round and round the horizon and never sinks below. The Norwegian rivers abound in fish, and any one is free to angle for trout in them. The salmon rivers, though, are strictly preserved. Some of the salmon rivers are very fine and rent for as much as $2,000 a year. I know a man who has a river only two miles long that he pays $1,800 for. He often gets fish sixty or seventy pounds. The day I called on him his wife came in with a forty pounder, a twenty-two pounder and a fifty-one pounder that she had caught herself within three hours."

Losses from Insect Pests.

C. L. Marlatt, of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, has prepared a statement as to the loss by insect pests in the United States each year, says W. S. Harwood, in the Century. He notes that the losses each year in all the plant products of the soil, both in the growing and in the stored state, together with those in live stock, exceed the entire expenditure of the national government, including the pension roll and the maintenance of the army and the navy. Placing the value of these products at $5,000,000,000 per year, he notes an annual shrinkage, due to insect pests, of fully 10 per cent—in many cases of 50 per cent; but, at 10 per cent, $500,000,000 is "the minimum yearly tax which insects levy upon the products of the farm." This does not include loss to farm products in storage, $100,000,000, or to natural forest and food products, also $100,000,000, making a total annual loss of $700,000,000 directly traceable to insect pests.

Trotting for Tarpon.

It is not easy to hook a tarpon while trotting, for his mouth is very hard, says Julian A. Dimock, in Country Life in America, and much skill may doubtless here be shown. In the playing of the fish the work is about the same as in still fishing, save that more care must be used, as the hook is probably not firmly imbedded. An old fisherman told me that he likes to be sure of his fish, and so preferred still fishing, but to my mind it is one of the objections to that method. Another and stronger objection is the disturbance to my feelings in thinking that I am pulling against a fish's "inards." If the line does break, the chance of the victim's being able to free himself from the hook is problematical, while in trotting it is the work of a minute after the strain is off the line until a sore mouth is the only symptom remaining.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Kentucky's Powerful Parson.

Senator "Joe" Blackburn, of Kentucky, tells of a good old Methodist minister in his State in the pioneer days who was a considerable scrapper. "One day," says the senator, "after the parson had found it necessary to administer fistic punishment to several young toughs who persisted in disturbing the meeting, one of his flock, noted as being something of a hard hitter himself, got up in meeting and said: "It is a solemn duty of this here congregation to stand by Parson Johnson. He does not seek trouble, but he will not show the white feather when trouble is forced in his way. I believe that, unrestrained by divine grace, Parson Johnson can whip any man in Kentucky. The Lord is with him. Let us pray!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Well Known Remedy.

One of the oldest, safest and most favorably known remedies in the world today is Brandreth's Pills—a blood purifier and laxative. Being purely vegetable they can be used by old or young with perfect safety and while other remedies require increased doses and finally cease acting altogether, with Brandreth's Pills the same dose always has the same effect no matter how long they are taken. One or two pills taken each night for awhile is the best thing known for any one troubled with constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia or any trouble arising from an impure state of the blood.

Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, plain or sugar-coated.

Moderation in Exercise.

It is better to be lazy than dead, and it is probably just as comfortable. For obvious reasons the prescription to take moderate exercise is misleading and unsatisfactory. Most of us are constitutionally incapable of exercising moderately. We begin violently and end quickly. And what is moderate exercise? One philosopher who tried it for twenty years arrived at this conclusion: "Keep a pair of Indian clubs in your bedroom. Look at them frequently. Exercise by their suggestion." This has the merit of moderation. It is the same as to walking. Smell the morning, look down the long way that separates you from your business. Then take a car.—Detroit Free Press.

LENGTH OF BLACKSNAKES.

Rapidity of Movement Makes Them Seem Longer.

One of the significant features of this snake season, and of any snake season that occurs, which is every year, is the very long length of the blacksnakes that are seen, says the Ohio State Journal. This is not at all remarkable, for about the only thing a blacksnake has to show for itself is its length. It has no musical tail like the rattlesnake, nor the puffed-out head of the hissing viper, nor the livid, languid manners of the housesnake—it has only length, and when with amazing speed it whips through the deep grass or dead leaves it seems to be thirty or forty feet long.

So truly does this little illusion exist that when a person tells of a blacksnake seven or eight feet long, he prides himself on great modesty of statement. And, by the way, we have noted many blacksnake stories this summer, and we have not encountered a snake under seven feet.

There was that story of a girl out in York State, who heard her little dog barking violently out in the stable. She went there to discover the cause, and lo! that little dog was in fight with a blacksnake seven feet long. It was a great fight and the dog was doing heroic work, keeping the python at bay until the little girl hunted up a pitchfork and with that dispatched the serpent, which, the account says, was seven feet long. Of course, it had to be seven feet, for there is no other kind.

Is there a moral to this? There is, of course, to every snake story. It is this: Be exceedingly careful not to make bigger than it is the horrible incident in your life which you encounter. See that your blacksnake is under seven feet long.

The Road to Wealth.

Not long since a dusty, tired-looking man presented himself at the desk of a hotel, announcing that he desired a room.

"I've et my supper and will be off before breakfast," said he to the clerk; "now what would be your lowest price for a room to sleep in?"

"One dollar, if you only occupy it for a night," was the reply.

"Well, wouldn't half a dollar make it just about right?" demanded the wayfarer, producing a 50-cent piece.

"You see, I'm all excited up travelin', and I don't expect to sleep more than half the time I'm in there."

A MISSOURI WOMAN.

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says: "Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not appeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years." Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Orpheum Theater.

An all star program is offered at the Orpheum for the week commencing with next Monday evening's performance.

Lillian Apel has been widely discussed by the musical and dramatic press. Her act belongs in both these categories. It is a novel creation for which the expressive title "piano-logie" has been invented. Miss Apel herself has been called beautiful by her own sex and is described as stunning by the men.

Another woman whose art and personality have been equally praised is the young soprano, Lee White. This dainty miss is a native of the Pacific Coast. Spokane claims the honor of her birthplace, but she has resided in the East for the past few years, and has only recently returned from her musical studies in Italy. She is said to have a sweet and powerful voice, and a dramatic ability which combine to make her singing an unusual treat.

Speaking of the Sisters Herzog-Camaras, who come here next week, a Minneapolis exchange says: "The Sisters Herzog-Camaras are probably the most physically powerful women ever seen on the Orpheum stage. The muscles stand out on their bare arms like knots on a tree, and they accomplish feats in hand-to-hand, head-to-head, 'three high' balancing that have heretofore been monopolized by men."

Gus Edwards has combined a number of his song successes in a pretty and novel song and dance sketch under the title "Primary No. 23," in which five pretty and clever young girls and four equally handsome but not quite so young men appear as "Gus Edwards' School Boys and Girls." Every one of the nine has been approved by the vaudeville houses of New York, and endorsed by Orpheum audiences all along the line.

Vasco, whose "mad music" created such a sensation, Wilson Brothers, German comedians, Alexandra and Bertie, the French equilibrist and the popular Empire Quartette, all remain for another week.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Some of the best productions of the past twenty years have been offered to the public under the management of Jules Murry. For twelve years Murry was at the head of the Faust production in which Lewis Morrison was the star. This year Murry is featuring a new "find," Miss Florence Gear, a young Brooklyn beauty, whose ability as a singing comedienne has been attested by New York and Boston audiences. "The Marriage of Kitty" has been selected by Murry as a suitable setting for the new star, and the production of this play at the Grand Opera house next week promises to be the event of the season.

The supporting company in "The Marriage of Kitty" is said to be stronger than is usually the case in "star" troupes, and this has had much to do with the success that has attended the company all along the line.

The Result.

All at once and unexpectedly Greek in Greek.

There wasn't any ting of war.

But two banana carts were upset and scattered their contents in the mud, to the accompaniment of much loud and variegated Hellenic profanity.

Few that Carry a Vote.

The parish church of Chertsey possesses a curious anomaly, says the Sunday Strand. It has several pews in its gallery which are bought and sold by auction, just like a table or a chair, and these pews give their owners for the time being a legal right to vote at parliamentary elections in the division. Moreover, the owners of the pews have to pay the poor a rate of £2 a year into the bargain—a privilege they are not so eager to use as the former one.

Many years ago the church wardens of Chertsey were at their wits' end in order to raise money for the restoration and repair of the sacred edifice, and they would find no solution to the question until some parishioners suggested that they should sell the gallery pews to the highest bidder. They accepted the idea and obtained a special act of parliament allowing them to do this, and also giving the privilege of a parliamentary vote. A pew was recently sold at Tokenhouse Yard for £50.

Unconstitutional.

A resident of a small town in southern New Jersey was brought before the Judge on the charge of intoxication. A fine was imposed, paid, and the man discharged. A few days later the same man faced the Judge for drunkenness again, but this time refused to pay the fine. The Judge became furious, but coolly replied the citizen:

"Judge, there ain't no law that says a feller can be fined twice for the same drunk, and, your Honor, you can't prove that I've drawn a sober breath since." The case was dismissed.

The Boring of Glass.

Strong glass plates are bored through by means of rotating brass tubes of the necessary diameter, which are filled with water during boring. To the water there is added finely pulverized emery. It is said that thinner glass can be perforated with holes in an easier manner by pressing a disk of wet clay upon the glass and making a hole through the clay of the widths desired, so that at that spot the glass is laid bare. Then molten lead is poured into the hole, and lead and glass drop down at once. This method is based upon the quick local heating of the glass, whereby it obtains a circular crack, the outline of which corresponds to the outline of the hole made in the clay. The cutting of glass tubes, cylinders, etc., in factories is based upon the same principle.

BAD BLOOD

THE SOURCE OF ALL DISEASE

Every part of the body is dependent on the blood for nourishment and strength. When this life stream is flowing through the system in a state of purity and richness we are assured of perfect and uninterrupted health; because pure blood is nature's safe-guard against disease. When, however, the body is fed on weak, impure or polluted blood, the system is deprived of its strength, disease germs collect, and the trouble is manifested in various ways. Pastular eruptions, pimples, rashes and the different skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish and diseased condition as a result of too much acid or the presence of some irritating humor. Sores and Ulcers are the result of morbid, unhealthy matter in the blood, and Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders that will continue to grow worse as long as the poison remains. These impurities and poisons find their way into the blood in various ways. Often a sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste, leaves the refuse and waste matters to sour and form uric and other acids, which are taken up by the blood and distributed throughout the circulation. Coming in contact with contagious diseases is another cause for the poisoning of the blood; we also breathe the germs and microbes of Malaria into our lungs, and when these get into the blood in sufficient quantity it becomes a carrier of disease instead of health. Some are so unfortunate as to inherit bad blood, perhaps the dregs of some old constitutional disease of ancestors is handed down to them and they are constantly annoyed and troubled with it. Bad blood is the source of all disease, and until this vital fluid is cleansed and purified the body is sure to suffer in some way. For blood troubles of any character S. S. S. is the best remedy ever discovered. It goes down into the circulation and removes any and all poisons, supplies the healthful properties it needs, and completely and permanently cures blood diseases of every kind. The action of S. S. S. is so thorough that hereditary taints are removed and weak, diseased blood made strong and healthy so that disease cannot remain. It cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., and does not leave the slightest trace of the trouble for future outbreaks. The whole volume of blood is renewed and cleansed after a course of S. S. S. It is also nature's greatest tonic, made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is absolutely harmless to any part of the system. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores.
