

LAS VEGAS CHILDREN IMPROVE IN HEALTH

"Keep Growing" Campaign
Benefits School Children.
—Westside School Wins
Gold Star Pennant.

Do you know that the Las Vegas schools increased the number of children up to average weight for height and age by 16% during this past school year? And did you know that the dangerously underweight children has been period of time? And did you know that the Old Town school decreased 10% during the same has won one of the state "Gold Star" pennants for its high health standing? The Las Vegas Parent-Teachers Association, the schools, the children and the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Nevada take real pride in making this announcement, for it is an unusually good record. Here are the figures for the year's work. Last fall only 31% of the children in the Las Vegas grammar, Old Town, and Junior High schools were up to average weight for their height and age; now there are 47% in this state and healthy group. Last fall 23% of Las Vegas school children were dangerously underweight, (i. e., 10% below the average); and now there are only 13% in this too skinny group.

This increase in the positive good health of Las Vegas school children is the result of the Keep Growing Demonstration work which has been carried on in the Las Vegas schools under the auspices of the local parent-teachers association. Mrs. Wm. Park, assisted by Mrs. W. G. Fulton, Mrs. Dave White and Mrs. W. N. Schuyler have had charge of the work during this year. Under the direction of the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Nevada, these leaders have devoted nearly a week in each month to carrying on this work. Each child has been weighed each month and a report sent home to his parents stating his weight as compared to the average child of the same height and age, and urging the use of such simple foods as milk, two vegetables a day, and cooked mush for breakfast; also, the imperative need of ten hours sleep six nights a week. Besides this, half pint bottles of milk have been served at each morning recess during the winter months. This proved a great help in releasing nervous tension, and preventing fatigue and many of these children made remarkable gains. Much credit is due Mrs. W. G. Fulton who had this phase of the work in charge, and to the Home Economics Department for their cooperation in serving the milk.

Las Vegas is proud of the fact that one of its schools, Old Town, did such excellent work in this Keep Growing demonstration, that it achieved the very real distinction of being declared a "Gold Star" school by reaching the state goal of having at least 75% of its children up to average weight or slightly under (from 20% above to 7% below) and having not more than 10% of its children dangerously underweight (10% below average weight). The Old Town school now has 83% of its children up to normal or slightly under, and only 6% dangerously underweight. Very few schools in the state have made a better record. Last year out of fifty-four communities carrying on the Keep Growing work 18 reached the state goal and were awarded the Gold Star pennant. Old Town's Gold Star pennant will be presented to it in the fall at the beginning of the new school year.

It will probably be a surprise to most residents of Las Vegas to learn that the Old Town school has a better nutrition and health record than the other schools of the community, but here are this year's statistics to speak for them selves:

Normal & Dangerously underweight	83%	6%
Grammar School	72%	14%
Junior High	65%	13%

The above statistics are truly surprising, for five years ago when this work started Old Town was considerably below the other schools. The very decided improvement clearly proves that good nutritional condition in children is not primarily dependent upon liberal incomes. The whole-hearted cooperation given by the Old Town parents, in seeing that their children carried out the suggestion given them in regard to food and rest, has been the main reason for this remarkable improvement; and great credit is due to both the parents and teachers for this cooperation.

The question, of course, will be asked: "Why did not the Grammar School and Junior High School make as great an improvement?" Surely the more liberal incomes and greater leisure of these parents would lead one to expect better results from those two schools. In regard to the use of milk and vegetables and the eating of sensible breakfasts, there was good home cooperation by these parents, resulting in a marked increase in the use of these foods. But the big problem of an adequate amount of sleep and rest has remained unsolved. This is particularly true among the Junior High school students where the many activities outside of actual school work make a serious situation. Growing children, particularly in Nevada's high, dry, stimulating climate, need liberal amounts of rest and sleep. Many Las Vegas children, particularly in the Junior High School, are not getting nearly enough sleep—not anywhere near the ten hours a night, six nights a week that are conceded by all to be the absolute minimum for good health and growth. This lack of sleep is emphatically not due to the demands made by the regular school work as so many suppose. It is due to too many outside activities. There is really much less regulation of outside activities in Junior and senior high schools than in our colleges. Most colleges have adopted the point system for these extra activities and no student is allowed to carry more than a certain number of these outside interests. In contrast to this, Junior and Senior school students are frequently allowed to seriously injure their health through the lack of sleep and nervous tension induced by too many interests outside of regular school work. Many of the most dangerously underweight children are carrying from three to five outside activities, such as music, school orchestra, glee club, boy scouts, athletic contests, and many small private club groups.

All these activities are excellent and every healthy, up to weight child should have the benefit of carrying on one or two of them, but no child should be allowed to undertake some any of them as to deprive him of his regular sleep, interfere with his school work and his natural rate of growth, or upset his nervous balance. When a child is dangerously underweight (10% to 25% below the average) all his time outside of his actual school work should be devoted to rest, sleep, gaining in weight and building up his general good health. Dangerously underweight children need rest and sleep much more than they need violent physical exercise or nervous stimulation. The question of regulating these outside activities is the most serious problem facing Las Vegas schools. It calls for the cooperation of parents, school authorities and the student body. When the problem is solved and all students are obtaining their full quota of sleep, both physical health and mental ability will greatly benefit.

This is the fifth and last annual report of the Las Vegas Keep Growing Demonstration. It has been a practical demonstration of the ways and means by which an active normal rate of growth and positive good health may be encouraged and stimulated among school children through community cooperative effort.

The Parent-Teachers Association has cooperated by supplying one or more leaders who have carried on a large part of the monthly weighing, etc. When the work first started the Extension Agent worked with the leaders each month to instruct them and help them. However, they gradually grew more proficient, until this year they even did the preliminary and final examinations and, by their keen interest and constant encouragement of each child, have done much to make this work prosper.

Each month a brief report has been sent home to the parents telling them of the progress of each child and his present weight as compared to that of the average child of his height and weight. This has kept up family interest and in most cases secured whole-hearted cooperation from both parent and child.

The schools have cooperated by giving about one hour a month to the reweighing work and by constantly emphasizing the basic ideas of milk, vegetables, mush and sleep in many phases of the regular school work—language, arts, etc.

The local Rotary Club has cooperated by devoting part of their fines to the good cause of supplying milk for morning recess for some children who needed it badly, but could not secure the necessary five cents a day. This year they extended their cooperation to the school at Arden by supplying a cooler and cups for the milk drinking demonstration in that community. This year the Anderson dairy has also cooperated by furnishing free milk to some of the children in the Old Town school.

The Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Nevada has cooperated by establishing the work here five years ago, training the local leaders, making the preliminary and final examinations, furnishing subject material, holding personal conferences with dangerously underweight children and their parents, compiling resulting statistics and making a yearly printed report.

The general aim of this work has been to demonstrate methods whereby children, their parents and community at large would be aroused to a realization that a normal rate of physical growth, as indicated by average weight for age and height, is the foundation of positive good health in growing children; and that this normal rate of growth can, in a vast majority of cases, be secured by establishing sensible habits in regard to food, sleep and recreation. We believe that these methods and their results have been adequately demonstrated and that sufficient interest has been aroused in the problem of positive good health among school children to insure continued effort. The future progress of the work, we therefore leave in the hands of the Las Vegas community with full confidence that through the cooperation of the schools and parents suitable local means will be found to continue some sort of Health Education work with all Las Vegas school children. The proposed combination of school nurses or hygiene teacher seems a promising idea. But whatever way is worked out by the school and community, we make a plea that active effort be made to maintain the fine spirit of cooperation between home and school that has made the present success possible. The parent-teachers organization should be a potent factor in maintaining this cooperation.

And last, but by no means least, may we again express our sincere appreciation of the help given by the various project leaders who have devoted so much time to this work. They have rendered an excellent service in a quiet, unassuming way, and it has been of real value to the whole community.

Very truly yours,
Agricultural Extension Service
Mary Stilwell Buol,
Assistant Director.

DIED

HAMILTON: In this city, Monday, May 23, 1927 at 11:00 a.m., Mrs. Belle Hamilton, beloved wife of George W. Hamilton, aged 47 years, 7 months and 3 days.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 at the Methodist Church. The funeral was under the direction of Mrs. Anna Roberts of the Palm Funeral Home. Interment at Woodlawn Cemetery.

The funeral services were attended by a large throng of sorrowing friends who came to pay their tribute to a beautiful life. A wealth of beautiful floral offerings blanketed the white casket, bearing mute testimony of the affection in which the deceased was held by all.

At the church a beautiful program of sacred music was interspersed with prayers and scripture readings, and a sermon by Rev. M. K. Stone.

A long procession of automobiles followed the remains to Woodlawn cemetery. Here, in the shelter of a canopy erected over the grave, the beautiful burial service of the Order of the Eastern Star was carried out by the officers, nearly all members of the Chapter being present to bid farewell.

Mrs. Belle Hamilton was born in Jefferson City, Mo., October 20, 1879. At the age of 16 she was married to George W. Hamilton in Temple, Texas.

Two daughters of the union survive, Mrs. Russell B. Pistole of this city and Mrs. C. D. Brown of Winnemucca, Nevada.

After coming to the Pacific Coast Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton lived for three years at Long Beach, California, moving five years ago to Las Vegas where they have since resided.

The deceased leaving surviving, her husband, George W. Hamilton, the two daughters; one granddaughter, Maydell, Pistole; and two sisters, Mrs. E. M. Sykes of Los Angeles and Mrs. J. A. Fredricks of Ottawa, Kansas.

Mrs. Hamilton had been ill for 22 days as the result of blood poisoning which resulted from a slight wound on the hand. For some days she appeared to be improving, but toward the last it was seen that the insidious poison had spread through her system and robbed her of the strength necessary for recovery.

In the death of Mrs. Hamilton Las Vegas suffers the loss of a noble and lovable character. The entire community joins in deep sympathy for the bereaved family.

FABULOUS VALUES IN OLD TECHATICUP

Stiles Brothers Taking Out
Ore Valued at $28,000 Per Ton from Eldorado Canyon
Property.

Stiles Brothers, leasers on the famous old Techaticup mine in Eldorado Canyon, are taking out gold ore running into fabulous figures. The strike was made about three weeks ago and the vein, several inches in thickness is still being followed.

A value of $28,000 per ton mostly in gold is shown by assays. The extent of the vein of high-grade is not known but it is proving a very profitable thing for the leasers. The Techaticup has been a consistent producer for many years, but so far as known, no vein of high grade ore so extensive as this has ever been cut in the property.

LAS VEGAN WEDS. KINGMAN GIRL

(Mohave Co. Miner)
Marie Meyers and Ralph Simon were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon by Judge Ross H. Blakely. The young bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meyers of Mineral Park and the groom a prominent young garage man of Las Vegas, Nevada. The couple met at Mineral Park last winter, where their courtship started. Mr. Simon motored down from Las Vegas Tuesday evening accompanied by his brother Albert, for a birthday trip which culminated with the ringing of wedding bells. Mrs. Simon has been working for Mrs. L. R. Hall at the Beale confecton den for several weeks and will be missed by her many friends.

Nancy Stephens and the groom's brother, Albert, were witnesses of the ceremony. The happy couple left Kingman immediately after the ceremony for Mineral Park to bid good bye to the bride's parents before they motored on to Las Vegas.
