Three Managers Win Flags But Can't Keep Their Jobs

FRANK SNYDER

BRUNO BETZEL

Bill McKechnie, Frank Snyder and Bruno Betzel flashed through with 1928 pennants but now are singing "The Managerial Blues." McKechnie and Snyder are "former managers." Betzel probably will make it a trio soon.

(Feature Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1, (AP)—Winning pennants and even higher honors in baseball doesn't always mean peace and permanency for the manager.

Bruno Betzel showed the way to the first pennant Indianapolis of the American Association won in 11 years, thence to victory in the junior world's series and now is understood to be in the market for a new position.

McKechnie, who has been in the National League spotlight in recent years by virtue of his successes at Pittsburgh and St. Louis, didn't exactly perform any miracles with the 1928 Cardinals.
