HAMILTON SUES FOR DAMAGES

George W. Hamilton, well known Las Vegas man, filed suit in the District Court Saturday against the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company for damages amounting to $50,000.00.

The complaint, which was filed by the plaintiff's attorney, Chas. Lee Horsey, states that the plaintiff has been in the employ of various railroad companies during the past twenty years, and that he resigned his position with the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company at Los Angeles June 3, 1926.

In March 1928, the complaint continues, plaintiff made an affidavit in connection with the matter of the claim for reinstatement of Conductor J. I. White, with payment for time lost.

In replying to this affidavit, it is claimed, the defendant's agent published the following statement: "As to the affidavit signed by George W. Hamilton, it might be briefly stated that this man is an ex-employee of this Company, at one time acting in the capacity of trainmaster, having been removed from the service for intoxication."

Plaintiff claims that this statement has tended to impeach his reputation and expose him to the "public hatred, contempt and ridicule."

He asks damages of $25,000.00 for damage to his reputation and ability to gain a livelihood, and $25,000.00 punitive or exemplary damages.

SUITS FILED

NEWSY NOTES OF OVERTON

By J. DONAL EARLE

OVERTON, Dec. 18, (Special)—The influenza epidemic is gradually leaving the Valley now. The attendance at school is steadily growing until it is about the normal size. School and all other meetings were closed for two days last week but have all started up again at present. There have been several very bad cases but no deaths have resulted. Pneumonia, fever rash ear ache, have all followed the flu and some have been serious enough to demand special treatment so the patients were taken from the Valley to Salt Lake or St. George for special treatment.

The flu played havoc with the members of the M. V. basketball team. Only two regulars were able to withstand it. Coach G. A. Stromberg has been out of school for two weeks on account of the serious illness of little Jerry, his son. Because of this basketball practice was almost discontinued for a day or two. But with the passing of the flu the boys intend to work harder to retain the Southern Nevada championship that they won last year and again represent this district at the state finals in the spring.

Ernest Tobler of Santa Clara spent the week-end in the Valley visiting with friends and relatives. He also came on business as he is a Star car and life insurance salesman.

Lettuce is being shipped out of the Valley in carload lots. It is being shipped to Smith & Hancock of Salt Lake City and to a central Utah concern. Some very good looking lettuce has been raised in the Valley this year and it is believed that more farmers will go into the marketing of crops in the fall rather than in the spring. Radishes and lettuce in particular will probably be grown in the fall so that it won't interfere with the asparagus marketing in the spring.
