Diversified farming is a fundamental part of the Hoover program. Here is how the Hoover farm perations are divided:

Vineyards, 435 acres producing yearly output of about 600,000 10 varieties of table grapes with pounds; between 60 and 320 acres in cotton; 200 acres in alfalfa, yielding seven tons to the acre, and cut seven times a year; 150 acres in potatoes; 130 acres in peaches producing 16,000 pounds to the acre; 80 to 120 acres in corn; 90 or more acres in watermelons Spanish onions; 40 to 80 acres in spinach producing about 960,000 pounds a season; 40 to 60 acres of sweet potatoes; 70 acres in apri-

In addition there are about 2500 laying hens, 200 sows and 150 sows. As many as 200 employees are at work during peak harvestseasons, and the annual pay Il is about $75,000.

Considerable experimental work s done on the farm, and a good part of this has been in connection ith poultry work. In accordance ith the most modern farm poulmethods and in the interests economy and profits, the Hoovstock is replenished each year ith baby chicks secured from atcheries. Eggs are marketed regularly, the income from this source proving considerable, since only the best of high egg-laying tock is used to make up the layng flock. The usual culling, and marketing of broilers adds anther source of profit, and
