

SPECIAL STEEL USED BY FORD

The new Model A Ford automobile compares some of the finest examples in the world of new metal treatments for resistance to wear and to the torsional strain imposed upon some of the parts of the modern internal combustion engine.

One of these is the crankshaft. In this latest Ford product the crankshaft is made of a special Ford carbon manganese steel, developed under processes of metal blending and heat treatment that are new to the industry.

These processes produce a crankshaft that is heavier than any previous Ford crankshaft, that is tougher to resist wear and stronger to resist the torsional strain of high speed performance.

OTTO FOREMASTER BURIED AT ALAMO

(Caliente Herald)

Otto Foremaster, well known resident of Alamo, Nevada, died on Thursday, January 10, after a brief illness, his death coming as a distinct shock to Lincoln county as Otto Foremaster had been in the mercantile business in Alamo for many years and was well known to almost everyone in Lincoln county. Otto Foremaster was about 55 years of age and had resided in Alamo for 25 years. He was born in Leipzig, Germany and came to America with his mother, Mrs. Caroline Foremaster, when he was a small boy. At first the Foremasters lived in Kanab and St. George, Utah, where young Otto followed the stock raising business, later the family moved to Fredonia, Arizona, and it was there that Otto suffered a severe fall from his horse which in connection with later developments caused him to lose the use of both his legs, almost crippling him for life. About 25 years ago the family moved to Alamo where Otto, who never married, engaged in the mercantile business with his brother, John P. Foremaster.

Surviving Otto were his mother, Mrs. Caroline Foremaster, two brothers, John P. Foremaster of Alamo and Joe F. Foremaster, who is now in the dairy business in Las Vegas, Nevada, and many nephews and nieces residing at Alamo and Las Vegas. The funeral took place at the Foremaster home in Alamo, the services being conducted by Bishop W. T. Stewart, Sr., assisted by the ladies choir, the remains being laid to rest in the Alamo cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, many driving over from Caliente, Pioche and Panaca. The Herald extends its sympathy to the Foremaster family in their severe loss, for Otto Foremaster will be missed by many in Lincoln county.

Stews from Leftover Foods
Stews are palatable, nutritious and easy to prepare. Use leftover meats, vegetables, fish or fowl and combine with a thin white sauce or gravy (leftover). When baked in a buttered baking dish, they form the main part of a luncheon or dinner. Some seasonings are needed such as onion, celery, green peppers or pimientos.

Beef and Rice Stew (using leftover cooked meat), for four (Any other kind of cooked meat may be used)

- 1 cup diced cooked meat (cut in 1/2 inch pieces)
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped celery
- 1/4 cup diced cooked carrots (any other leftover vegetables may be used)

Melt the butter and add the flour. Cook slowly and stir constantly, until the mixture turns a light brown color. Add the salt, paprika and milk and cook until a creamy sauce forms. Stir frequently to prevent lumping and scorching. Add the rest of the ingredients and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moder-

ABOUT NEW YORK

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A quietly dressed man standing on a platform beside a table of books holds one of them above his head and says in a well modulated voice: "What do you bid, gentlemen, for this first edition of Fielding's 'Tom Jones,' number 514 in the catalog?"

Almost instantly a voice in the seated audience of perhaps 200 book collectors, dealers and mere spectators responds with "Five Thousand." A clerk looks in the voice's direction, sees an uplifted hand, and makes a note of the bid. The auctioneer hardly has time to repeat the bid and ask for a higher one before another voice calls out, "Seventy-five hundred." Spirited bidding follows and finally the auctioneer, hearing no more voices, raps on the table and the sale is closed at $29,000.

Probably no one is more surprised when he hears what has taken place than Jerome Kern, who owned the book when the sale began. For he had paid only $3,000 for it a few years before.

Composer Collector

Kern, composer of musical shows, has a new hobby, so his rare books and manuscripts are being put into circulation again. The entire collection was valued before sale at $1,000,000. Kern thought the appraisal too high. Half the collection has brought $933,625. The remainder, to be sold January 21, is said to be almost as valuable.

The highest price paid thus far was $34,000 for the original manuscript of Thomas Hardy's "A Pair of Blue Eyes." When Kern bought it for $10,000, the extravagance hurt his conscience.

Has A Boat Now

Kern, obviously, collected books because he liked them, not for potential profits. He began 15 years ago, when he was 32 years old, buying from dealers. He is selling the books now because of his friendship for Mitchell Kennerly, president of the Anderson Galleries. Kennerly is getting out of the business Kern, realizing his collection must be disposed of sometime, decided to give his friend a memorable sale.

Then, too, Kern has a new yacht awaiting him at Palm Beach.

Works Hard

Kern himself is a cultured composer, meticulous in his work. He takes a year to write the score for a show. Pride in his work is so great that he walks out if he hears an orchestra make interpolations or change the tempo of a piece.

He works intensively and when he is apt to be abrupt. He telephoned a florist to send $50 worth of flowers to Dorothy Stone when "Three Cheers" opened in Springfield, Mass.

"What theater is she playing in?" the florist asked. "I don't know. Look it up," said Kern, hanging up the receiver.

Big Money Man

Kern's income is one of the largest among musical show composers. He is said to have split $250,000 in "Show Boat" royalties with Oscar Hammerstein II, who wrote the lyrics.

Daily Help—Wash aluminum utensils in hot soap suds, and polish with an aluminum cleanser if a bright finish is desired. Never soak aluminum in soda water. Rinse well with warm or cold water after washing or polishing. This especially applies to electrical utensils, such as percolators.

SPOKANE BANK IS CLOSED

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 18, (AP)—The Exchange National Bank with deposits of $8,000,000.00 closed here today.

COAL

Every delay, which means a day, in placing your order for the winter's supply of coal can mean a loss to you, because local dealers cannot control prices and a cost-at-mine advance means you must pay accordingly. Then too, delivery now means a good first-grade coal at minimum cost, whereas rush delivery when winter storms and cold blow, may mean that you'll be glad to have inferior mining at any price.

NEW FOX DIRECTOR FILMS FAMOUS YARN

George B. Seltz, who has been prominent in the directorial field for many years and whose outstanding pictures of recent time include "The Vanishing American" for Paramount, and "The Blood Ship," starring Robert Bosworth, for Columbia, has been signed by Sol M. Wurtzel, general superintendent of Fox Films. His first assignment is writing and directing "The Fatal Wedding," and he is actively at work on this now, with production to start within the next four weeks.

Robert Benchley, formerly dramatic critic of Life, who was brought to Hollywood by Winfield Sheehan, vice-president of Fox Films, late last November to make Fox Movie-tone short subjects, and who, after having made two and part of another, was called to New York, returns to Hollywood about January 15 to resume his making of mirth-provoking talking short features. His "Treasurer's Report," and "The Sex Life of a Polyp," have been voted gems of mirth, and "Lesson Number One," detailing the difficulties of learning to drive a car, and "Furnace Trouble," take high rank among talking comedies.

Frank Borzage is about to start his new production as yet untitled—a story from the pen of Tristram Tupper, who wrote "The River," Borzage's last film production. Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor will be co-featured in this new opus and other members of the cast are expected to be revealed within the next few days.

LAS VEGAS BOOM IS RENO EDITORIAL TOPIC

Las Vegas is beginning to experience the long expected boom incident to the passage of the Boulder Dam appropriation bill. The first to benefit are the proprietors of hotels, lodging houses and restaurants. All are crowded to capacity. Numerous real estate deals of some magnitude have been consummated, especially with real estate dealers from southern California. As soon as the legislature of either Utah or Arizona can be persuaded to ratify the Santa Fe pact, and actual construction work assured, there is little doubt but a heavy influx of newcomers will begin. In addition to ordinary business enterprises, the promotion of industries to utilize the large non-metallic deposits of the district seems to offer the most interesting opportunities. The manufacturer of heat resisting glass, the electrolytic treatment of low grade zinc and lead ores, the refining of copper and the manufacture of cyanide products are among the industrial possibilities. At all events the state will be helped by the favorable advertising which is being given to her resources.—Nevada State Journal.

Assemblyman T. D. Fanatia left for Carson City yesterday morning where he will attend the session of the legislature which opens Monday morning.
