9 LETTER MAN AT WESTERN U.

By NEA Service

PULLMAN, Wash., May 22.—“Nine letter” athletes are rather scarce articles in these days of specialized athletics and high scholarship requirements. Ted Rohwer of Spokane, who graduates from Washington State college next month, accomplished this, and also found time to earn his college expenses.

For three years, Rohwer has been a backfield star of the Cougar football team. There is not elective captain in any sport here, but Rohwer was acting captain in most games of the last two seasons. Coach “Babe” Hollingsberry considers Rohwer one of the most valuable gridgers in the school's history.

For all three eligible years, Rohwer also has been a basketball standby, playing a running guard, and acting as captain. In the same three years he has been first baseman for the varsity baseball team, too.

But with all this athletic program, Rohwer has found time to do odd jobs around frat houses and campus to pay his way, and to maintain an excellent scholastic standard. He gets a degree next month, and having majored in physical education for study as well as in athletics for pastime, it's hardly necessary to say that Rohwer's going in for coaching.

FAMOUS ROYAL YORK HOTEL AT BRIGHTON TO BE RAZED

BRIGHTON, May 23. (UP)—The Royal York hotel, which guards a hundred years of grand memories and the secret intrigues of famous people the world over, is soon to be torn down and a new building erected on the site. The opening of the Royal York in 1819 was a great social event, and in its hundred years it saw the coming and going of great and small, happy and unhappy. In the last years of its life it housed a Y.M.C.A.

Princess de Lamballe, Marie Antoinette's unlucky friend, was a frequenter of the Royal York. Dickens brought his young wife there, Joe Colletti, Kemmerer, Wyo., was the first westerner to feel the teeth of the Jones law. He was sentenced to two and a half years by Federal Judge T. D. Johnson of Salt Lake, when he pleaded guilty to transportation of liquor. Leo Axtell, 17, of Seattle, has been more concerned on what high school students would think of him than over the fact that he's held on charge of waylaying and murdering his stepfather.

while Disraeli wrote enthusiastic letters to his sister Sarah about the shrimps they served. It was a haunt of Solly Joel, Ellen Terry, Jack Dempsey, Lord Dewar, Phil May and scores of other varied personalities.

With 1400 excursionists aboard, the Island Queen, largest pleasure steamer plying on western rivers, was left high and dry the other day on the mud flats of the Ohio river near Cincinnati. Rapidly receding waters left the big boat hopelessly stranded.

RECONSTRUCTION OF WATTERS BUILDING NEARLY DONE

The reconstruction of the apartment and office building of J. T. Watters on North Second will be finished about Tuesday, according to J. C. Jesse, contractor.

The interior is being completely remodeled and a new front has been built, extending the building out to the edge of the property.

There are now seven apartments upstairs and nine offices downstairs. Virtually all the office rooms have been spoken for, it is said.

PLANE TO DROP FLOWERS ON MEMORIAL DAY

Flowers will be strewn from an airplane over the Las Vegas cemetery as part of the Memorial Day ceremonies to be conducted here May 30 by the local American Legion post. Tommy Thompson, of the Legion post, also field manager for the Western Air Express, has arranged for this part of the ceremony according to W. J. Hooper.

Participation of citizens in the Memorial Day parade and services is urged by the Legionnaires, and club and lodges which plan to take part in the parade are urged to have their members present at the Legion hall at 8:45 sharp Thursday morning, for the parade will start at 9 a.m.

Parade Route Given

The parade will move from the Legion hall east on Carson street, if street paving work permits, to Fifth, then north on Fifth to Fremont and west on Fremont to Main, where cars will be taken to the cemetery.

Decoration of the grave of the unknown soldier will be the principal part of the ceremony at the cemetery. The flowers will be strewn from the plane about 10 o'clock, it is stated.

Ceremony at Overton

Members of the Legion and outsiders alike will go to Overton Sunday, May 26 to attend the annual Woodruff Perkins memorial ceremony to be conducted in Overton high school Sunday evening at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the local Legion post.

All who possibly can make the trip are urged to do so, according to Hooper.

The committee for the local memorial services is headed by H. S. “Tommy” Thompson. The other two members are T. W. Bell and Levi Tracht.
